BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

OYSTER BAY, Aug. 24.—President Roosevelt has adopted the Carnegie spelling reform movement. The President issued orders today to Public Printer Stillings that hereafter all messages from the President and all other documents emanating from the White House shall be printed in accordance with the recommendation of the spelling reform committee headed by Brander Matthews, professor of English at Columbia University.

This committee had published a list of words in which the spelling is reformed. This list contains such words as "thru," and "tho" as the spelling for "through" and "though." They are typical of the "reform" spelling.

Government documents in the future will look like the resolutions adopted by the Missouri Press Association, the pioneer organization to take the field for simplified spelling. The resolutions are as follows:

"Hwereaz, the iregyularitiz ov Inglish orthografi ar a grate obstacl tu the progres of the pepl, and

"Hweraz, silent leters alone ad about 25 per sent to the cost ov ol riting and printing, and

"Hweraz, edituraz, statesmen, skolars, techerz and filanthropists thruout the Inglish-speking world ar making ernest efforts to amend and simplifi our speling.

"Therefore, be it resolved by the Misuri edituraz in convenshun asembled, that

"We hartili simpathize with the ernest efforts which ar being put forth to simplifi Inglish orthografi, and

A Long, Hard Fite.

Simplified spelling is no new thing, but it has certainly been a long time coming. Benjamin Franklin is given the distinction of having preceded the Missouri "edituraz" by several years, he being one of the earliest advocates of "simplified" phonetic spelling. Then along came Isaac Pitman and A. J. Ellis, and just 60 years ago published a phonetic alphabet—beg pardon, a "fonetic alfabet"—of 40 characters, composed of Latin letters and their modifications.

But the world didn't fall all over itself adopting their suggestions and went along in the same old rut, using silent letters galore and doing just what it pleased in the way of spelling.

Then the National Educational Association and a few other high-sounding organizations took up the matter, along about 1875, and they resoluted till they were black in the face, but still very few people paid any attention, although Andrew Carnegie now claims that along about that time the people began spelling "plow" instead of "plough." So, you see, 30 years' work has resulted in wonderful progress.

So encouraged were the "filologists" that they held a jollification meeting the next year and laid down a lot of rules that cover as many pages as the old-fashioned spelling book. The people objected they would have to unlearn all they had spent years in learning and the "filologists" said: "Oh, just observe these simple rules and all will be easy. But it was harder work remembering the simplifying rules than it was remembering how to spell the words in the old way. And everything was so badly mixed up. For instance, just take two or three of these "simple" rules we were all asked to remember offhand day and night:

It's "O, Fug!" Now.

From a word ending in "ogue," "ue" is dropped when "ogue" is pronounced og. When "o" in "ogue" is given the long song the "ue" is retained. Thus, "catalogue" is written "catalog," but "vogue" and "rogue" are not changed. "Tongue" is changed to "tung."

From a word ending in "e" silent, "e" is dropped when the dropping does not suggest a wrong pronunciation of the word. Thus "definite" and "indefinite" become "definit" and "indefinit," but "finite" and "polite" are unchanged.

"From a word ending in a double letter, one of the double letters is dropped when the dropping of the letter does not suggest a wrong pronunciation of the word, as 'eg,' 'stil,' 'til,' 'shal,' 'clas,' etc. But the double 's' in 'preceptress' is retained because 'preceptres' would suggest the pronunciation 'precepters.' In 'all,' 'ball,' etc., both 'l's' are retained to preserve the sound of 'a.'

"From a word containing the diphthong 'ae,' 'a' is omitted, when its omission does not suggest a mispronunciation of the word, as 'helth,' 'heth,' 'deth,' 'wel'h,' 'stelth,' 'erth.'

"In a word ending 'ed' sounded like 't' 'ed' is changed to 't' when such change does not suggest a mispronunciation of the word, as 'wisht,' 'heapt,' 'leapt,' etc. When there is a double letter before the 'ed' one of them is dropped as 'plant' 'mant' 'blet,' 'past,'

CHIEF TRIED TO RECONCILE PAIR BEFORE TRAGEDY

Gillaspy Sought to Induce Wife to Return to Policeman McNamara.

TWO KILLED IN HOTEL

Held Wife and Fired on Her After Slaying Bartender With Her.

SAYS HE'LL BE FREED

Will "Beat Case" if Inquest Does Not Exonerate Him, He Predicts.

In the Four Courts holdover Friday Policeman Michael McNamara of the Broadway squad, who shot and killed his young wife, Nellie McNamara, from whom he was separated, and her escort, James J. Brophy, a bartender, in the Hotel Royal, Eighteenth and Olive streets, Thursday night, calmly expressed confidence that he would be exonerated by the Coroner's jury.

Brophy's wife is said to be in Kansas City. His relatives disagree as to whether there had been a separation His 9-year-old daughter lived with him at his mother's home.

The inquest is to be held Saturday morning. The next step will be examination of a transcript of the evidence by the Circuit Attorney's office and presentation of the case to the grand jury. This usually takes several weeks.

Chief Gillaspy told a Post-Dispatch reporter Friday that he had been trying to effect a reconciliation between McNamara and his wife for several weeks.

"Mrs. McNamara called to see me two weeks ago," said the Chief. "She complained that her husband was not treating her right. I sent for McNamara and he and his wife talked over their differences in my office. Mrs. McNamara heaped all sorts of abuse on her husband. She told him he was 'the meanest man on earth.'

"He offered to give her $30 a month. 'You don't love me,' he said. 'All you care for me is to get my salary every month.'

"'Yes, and I'll keep on getting it every month,' Mrs. McNamara replied. Then she asked me to prefer charges against her husband. I told her she had not stated any grounds on which charges could be filed. I told her I was willing to do all in my power to adjust her domestic troubles, but that I would not be a party to any persecution.

Estranged Another Pair.

"Early this week McNamara came to me and told me that his wife attended a party last Saturday night at the home of a Mrs. Donegan, 3876 Easton avenue. She was escorted there by a man answering Brophy's description. McNamara did not know Brophy, but someone told him his wife, while at the party, was 'cutting up capers' with a married man who lives on Page avenue. It seems that the married man had dropped in at the party with a gentleman friend and met Mrs. McNamara quite by accident. He danced several times with her. Later McNamara was informed of the matter, and he went to the Page avenue house to see the man. The man was not at home and McNamara told the man's wife why he had come. This resulted in an estrangement between the man and his wife.

"Later I received word from the man—I do not know his name or the number of his house—that he had met Mrs. McNamara for the first time at the dance. He explained that he did not know she was a married woman, and said he wanted to apologize to McNamara. I sent for McNamara again and explained the matter fully to him and advised him against acting rashly.

"He told me that he had no intention of doing anything wrong and said he was sorry he had gone to the Page avenue home with his troubles.

"'My wife is trying her best to drag me down,' he said to me. 'She's got me nearly crazy. She is trying to drive me to desperation. But I'm going to let her alone. I will not let her compel me to do wrong!'

"While I do not approve of the way McNamara ended his domestic troubles, I believe he was driven to desperation."

She Told of Other Men.

"Everything I knew about my wife's relations with other men I learned from her own lips," said McNamara to a Post-Dispatch reporter. He was smoking a cigarette. Because of the heat in the holdover he wore only a shirt and pair of trousers.

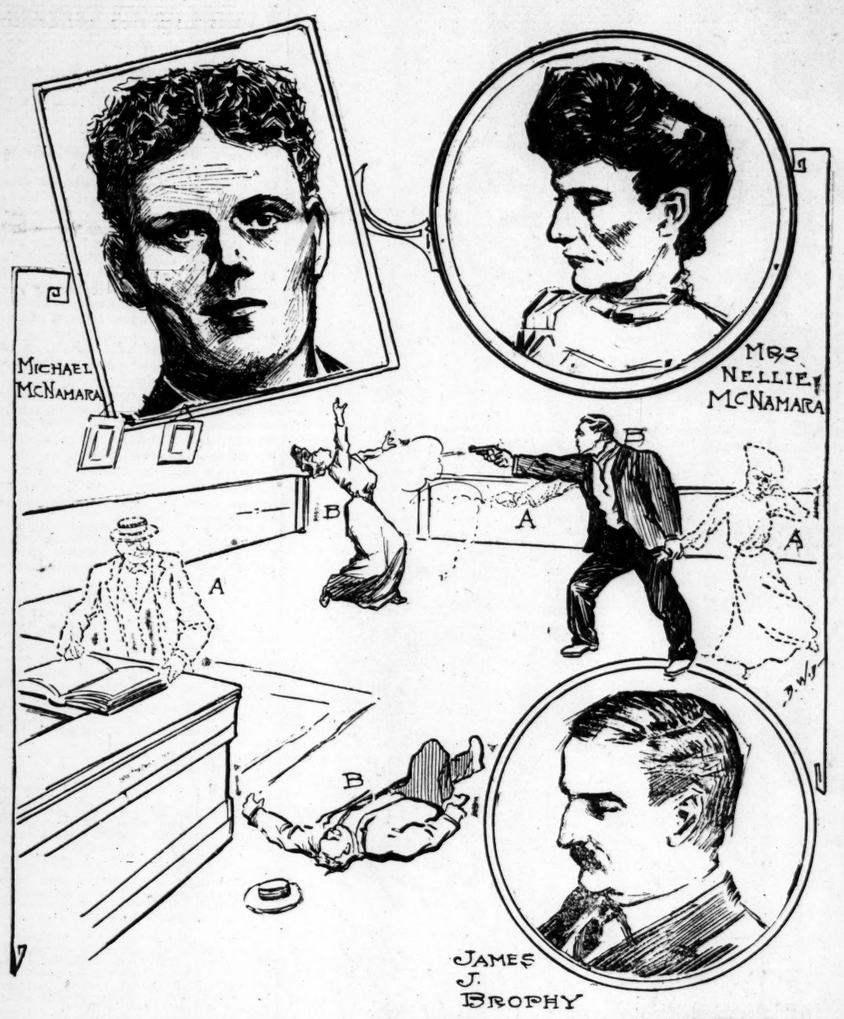

"I married Nellie Manser three years ago next November. We lived happily in a little flat at 2802 Benton street until shortly before our separation last March. We quarreled about different little things—just as most young couples do. They didn't amount to anything, but she took the baby, a year and a half old, and went home to her mother at 2821A Howard street.

"I met her several times in April and begged her to return to me. 'Let bygones be bygones,' I told her.

"I never suspected that other men had attractions for her until she said,

MAN KILLED IN MAIL ELEVATOR

George Redman, Porter, Caught by Cage at Union Station Annex.

CAR RUN AGAINST LAW

Clerk Says There Is No Experienced Operator and Employes Act.

George H. Redman, a mail porter in th employ of the Terminal Association, was crushed to death at 11:30 a. m. Friday between an elevator and the second floor of the Union Station Postoffice annex.

The body of Redman was found by J. S. Hayhurst, chief transfer clerk of the mail department, who heard his cries. The body was suspended on the elevator, which had passed the second floor. It fell to the elevator pit 50 feet below, striking Hayhurst, who was trying to get from under it. Redman's body was taken to the Morgue.

It is supposed Redman boarded the elevator on the first floor and had attempted to got off a tthe second floor, falling back as the car descended. His body was caught between the floor and elevator.

According to the statement of Clerk Hayhurst, in whose office the elevator is operated, the car is run in open violation of the city laws. He said to a Post-Dispatch reporter:

"The elevator is for the exclusive use of the mail section of the annex and is operated in violation of the city laws. It is an electric contrivance and no elevator boy is supplied to run it. When anyone connected with my office wants to go to the second or third floors we are compelled to operate it ourselves. I have called the matter to the attention of the City Inspector and he has thoroughly inspected it and has promised to investigate the situation, but nothing has yet been done."

Redman was about 30 years old and is survived by a wife and daughter, who live at 2210 Eugenia street. He had been in the employ of the Terminal Association for four months.

The rain has been general east of the Rocky Mountains. It has been cooler west of the Mississippi. The general conditions point to continued rain and cooler weather in this section the next 36 hours.

HEAT OVERCOMES MAN HAVING HIS HAIR CUT.

Richard Cooley, 82 years old, living with his son, Charles H. Cooley, at 3973 Fairfax avenue, fainted from the effects of the heat while sitting in a chair at his home. He fell to the floor and died before a physician could reach him.

William Aldrich of 923½ North Compton avenue fainted from the heat while having his hair cut in a barber shop at 1930 Franklin avenue, and was taken to the City Hospital. Frank Skinner of 1616 Lemp avenue, a plumber, was overcome while working in front of 3448 Iowa avenue. He was taken into a summer garden near by and revived before being sent home. Barney Schor of 1113 North Ninth street was found unconscious at Ninth and St. Charles streets and was taken to the City Dispensary, where he was found to be suffering from heat prostration. He was sent home.

Ossist Ross, a negro, died of heat prostration on a Suburban car at Belt avenue Friday at 10:30 p. m. Ross was going to his work and was standing in the aisle of the car when he fell to the floor. The negro was taken to a drug store on Belt near the tracks and physicians were summoned, but he died before medical aid reached him. Ross lived at 4461 Cozens av.

WEDS, RETURNS TO WORK

Edward Doyle and Miss Catherina Black were married in East St. Louis Thursday by Justice McKane. Doyle is a machinist's helper, and requested his foreman to let him off 10 minutes before noon, in order to get a marriage license before the office closed.

The ceremony was performed shortly after noon, and Doyle returned to work at 1 p. m. They intend to go to housekeeping in about one month, and did not want their friends to know of the marriage until they were ready to announce it.

ROBBED OF $6200 WHILE FIXING AUTO

Money Was Protruding From Pocket, He Says, With Stranger Near.

STARTED FOR CHICAGO

Name of Mutual Friend Enabled Young Man to Join Two Motorists.

Edward Dyke, a supply dealer of 3932 Olive street, reported to Chief Desmond Friday the loss of a wallet containing $6200.

Dyke said that he and Ben Lemmon, a friend, had started for Chicago in an automobile, but had stopped at a wine garden, where a young man joined them.

The young man introduced himself, Dyke says, by mentioning the name of a man Dyke knew.

All three sat down at a table. After several rounds of drinks had been bought, Lemmon remarked to Dyke, the latter said, that he was "all in" financially. He asked Dyke:

"Have we enough money to carry us through?"

Dyke says he took out his wallet and displayed several $1000 bills, saying:

"Well, I guess we have. This will take care of us for awhile, I guess." He replaced the pocketbook and the drinking continued.

Later Thursday night the three went out to start for Chicago. Some of the mechanism of the automobile had become clogged, Dyke says, and he took off his coat and stooped down to fix it. The new member of the party seemed extremely attentive, running around the machine and doing whatever he could to assist. Dyke says he brushed against him several times. The wallet was protruding from his hip pocket all the time.

Finally they got the machine going and started for East St. Louis. After crossing the bridge Dyke discovered the loss of his purse and ran back to town.

Dyke said he had drawn the money from the Jefferson Bank a few hours before leaving, to carry him through during the trip.

The third member of the party, who excused himself before Dyke noted his loss, is being sought.

GAVE WOMAN SEAT, DIES.

Beatty Went to Front of Car, Then Crash Came.

The death of James Beatty of 1619 Franklin avenue, which occurred at the Granite City Hospital Friday, was due to his gallantry in giving his seat to a woman on the Horseshoe Lake car, which was in a collision with a McKinley line car at Twenty-fourth and Washington avenue, Granite City, Sunday.

Beatty gave up his seat in the rear of the car and walked to the forward end. When the crash came, the woman was not injured, but Beatty was fatally hurt.

The heavier McKinley line car struck the lighter one with great force. Twenty persons on the Horseshoe Lake car were injured.

Beatty was taken to the hospital with others of the injured. Concussion of the brain developed and caused his death. After the inquest, to be held Saturday, the body will be brought to St. Louis for burial.

CUBAN REBELS LOSE TWO LONG BATTLES; GUERRA RETREATING

Defeated After Three Hours' Fighting Near Pinar del Rio, Insurgent Leader Abandons the City He Besieged and Is Driven Back Toward Guanes.

FIRST FIGHT IN SANTA CLARA WON BY PALMA

Government Takes the Aggressive After Three Towns Fall—Rancho Veloz Occupied by Insurgents—Jose Gomez, Late Presidential Candidate, in Havana Jail.

HAVANA, Aug. 24.—The insurgents have lost two battles within 12 hours, the city of Pinar Del Rio has been practically abandoned by the rebels, and Pino Guerra and his band of revolutionists are in retreat.

Word was received here today that Gen. Guerra was defeated in a three hours' battle near Pinar Del Rio yesterday. Shortly afterward came the news that the first encounter in Santa Clara Province occurred this morning and was a victory for the Government.

A detachment of rural guards attacked an insurgent band, commanded by Manuel Gonzalez, between Santo Domingo and Colon. The insurgents were scattered and some of their arms and ammunition were captured.

Guerra is retreating toward Guanez. Guerra declared previous to his departure from San Juan de Martinez that after occupying Guanez and obtaining accessions from the people in the lower part of the Vuelta Abajo district, he would return and surround and capture Pinar Del Rio.

While the late Government officials were busy issuing statements intended to assure the world that the insurrection is under control, the revolutionists, led by ex-Congressman Mendietas, captured Rancho Veloz, on the north coast.

At Salud a train loaded with horses for the Government troops was held up and all the animals on board were driven away. Stores were sacked of arms and ammunition.

Orestes Ferrara, who was the campaign secretary and manager of Jose Miguel Gomez and who was with him in New York several months ago after Gomez gave up his presidential campaign, was arrested in the city of Santa Clara today on the charge of conspiracy. Ferrara is suspected of trying to secure arms and ammunition in the United States for the use of insurgents.

Gomez Arrested.

Jose Miguel Gomez, who was a candidate for the presidency last fall, and who was arrested Aug. 21 at his residence near Sancti Spiritus, Province of Santa Clara, arrived here from Batabano on a special train early this morning and had been escorted to the City Jail before his arrival in this city became known.

Excitement became widespread early this morning when reports were circulated that cablegrams from the United States announced that President Palma had asked the American Government to loan it field guns and artillery men. At first this startling news was accepted as evidence of danger and gave rise to grave fears that the revolution was more serious than hitherto acknowledged. Investigation revealed that there was no truth in the report. It was a distortion of a routine order sent an American firm to ship several guns. These may be manned by American ex-soldiers temporarily residing here.

INSANE MAN AT LARGE.

Posses With Bloodhounds Search for Farmer.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 24.—F. L. Neblett, an aged farm manager at Germantown, this county, who was found yesterday after living 35 days in the woods on raw corn and roots, sleeping in a hollow log, escaped from his captors last night.

Neblett is violently insane and armed with a long knife. Posses scoured the woods for him all night and this morning bloodhounds were secured from Mississippi to take up the trail. Sheriff Ivans Owens of Tupica, Miss., who owns the farm Neblett managed, is directing the pursuit.

CHILD KILLED BY FALL.

Hurrying from the house to awaken a young woman asleep in the flat below, 5-year-old Florence Anderson, daughter of Joseph Anderson of Granite City, was fatally injured when she pitched head foremost over the back rail of the upper porch at her home Friday. The child's skull was fractured in the fall of 12 feet and she died shortly afterward at the Granite City Hospital.

Little Florence every morning at 6:30 awakened a young woman who slept in the lower flat. When Florence awoke Friday she asked her mother what time it was. When told it was 6:45 she said, "O, I must hurry and wake my friend."

The child ran through the house to the second floor rear porch. She had been running so fast that she could not stop to turn and walk downstairs. She ran against the low railing with much force and fell over it.

THOUSANDS WATCH FIRE IN STABLE

Blaze in Hay Causes $1000 Loss in Establishment on Broadway.

THIRTY HORSES SAVED

Animals Ran Away After Six Men Drive Them to Safety.

Thousands of persons saw flames do $1000 damage in the hayloft of George G. Smith's livery stable, 1309 North Broadway, at 1 p. m. Friday. After the fire penetrated for into the hay, smoke went up in great columns. The fire was caused by spontaneous combustion, Smith believes. The firemen were handicapped by the smoke, but got hose into the building and prevented the flames from spreading.

George Biegle, a barnman, who lives at 1843 O'Fallon street, and five other employes freed the 30 horses and two mules which were on the ground floor. When the smoke descended to the lower floor the horses, which were being led, balked and it was with difficulty that they were driven to safety. As the last horse was being driven out by Biegle, burning hay dropped from the floor that had burned through and frightened the horses. Some of them went out the Broadway entrance, while others went to Sixth street. All ran away.

Passerby Sounds Alarm.

A passerby first noticed the fire and sent in the alarm.

The firemen put ladders against the building and gradually worked their way into the barn and conquered the blaze in an hour. The hay was thrown into the street, where water was thrown on it.

Smith said he believed all the horses escaped. The 12 tons of hay that burned were worth about $150. He owned harness worth $1000. His loss on that will be about $500, as nearly half of it was saved. Several buggies were saved and eight were destroyed. The loss on them will be about $400. Smith carried $1800 insurance. The damage to the building, also owned by Smith, is slight.

2 KILLED, 2 INJURED.

Team at Hereford, Tex., Frightened by Auto.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 24.—R. L. Barham and wife were killed and Miss Lee and a Mr. Russell seriously and, perhaps, fatally injured at Hereford, Tex., yesterday afternoon by a team running away with the carriage in which they were riding. The team took fright at an automobile.

Fink Out on $500 Bond.

Samuel Fink of 119 East Schirmer street, who wounded Edward Hildebrand early Monday morning, as Hildebrand and Mrs. Fink were leaving Ehlinger's wine garden, and who has been in the Clayton Jail since, was released Friday on $500 bond.

Would Be School Teachers.

Supt. Andrae of the St. Louis County Schools was busy Friday examining the largest class of applicants for certificates that he has ever had. There were 55, of whom 38 were young women. There was speculation at Clayton, where the examination was held, as to how many would last the year out without getting married. The school authorities of the county have been having a hard time to keep pretty young school teachers, as many of them have been married during the past year.

GALBRAITH JURY STANDS 10 TO 2 FOR ACQUITTAL

No Verdict Is Expected Now in the Springfield Lynching Trial.

THE SAME AS NOT GUILTY

Perdiction Made That Defendant Will Never Be Placed on Trial Again.

CROWD AT COURTHOUSE

Friends of the Prisoner Greatly Disappointed at Failure to Acquit.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Aug. 24.—Springfield was standing in its public square today waiting for the jurors in the Galbraith murder case to bring in a verdict or declare finally to the court that they are unable to agree.

So far as any business was concerned, it might as well have been Sunday, for the lynching case was the only thing that is occupying the public mind. The clerks in the stores, which, of course, were kept open, were not behind their counters, but were standing in the doorways with their eyes cast toward the entrance of the Courthouse.

On the band stand of the light tower, where the negroes were hanged, stood a young man who is accustomed to tell the people in the big square through a huge megaphone, such events as ball games and shows at the opera house. He and his megaphone were on the west side of the bandstand, facing the Courthouse, and on the balcony of that building stood another man to signal him the moment the jury reported.

The courtroom was crowded with people, but Mrs. Galbraith, wife of the defendant, unable to bear the strain of sitting in the room any longer, was on the corner of College street and the Square, standing under an umbrella in the drizzling rain. From that corner the jurors could be seen as they walked to and fro in the room on the top floor of the Courthouse and Mrs. Galbraith said she could stand the strain better if she could see them pass the open windows.

Wife Out in the Rain.

"I can at least know when they are ready to come into the courtroom again," she explained.

"I can get back there as soon as they can get downstairs and this is better than sitting in that awful place where they have been trying Doss."

Upstairs in the courtroom an attempt was made this morning to treat the situation as if it was a usual one in court procedure and another murder case was called, that of W. B. Fleener, accused of having killed Lee Clark last September.

It became evident, however, the moment the announcement was made, that it was useless to try to gain the attention of lawyers, jury panel or anybody else, while that jury was upstairs deciding the guilt or innocence of Doss Galbraith, and the case hung fire while the Galbraith jury debated.

It is understood that the men stand 10 to 2 for acquittal. It is freely predicted that there will be no agreement, as it is thought that neither of the two men holding out for conviction will yield. The general belief is that the jury will be discharged and that Galbraith will never be placed on trial again.

If the information that has leaked from the jury room is accurate and the jury stands 10 for acquittal, this result is almost certain. It would be difficult if not impossible to get another jury in this county and there is little likelihood that the State could make a stronger case at a second trial than was made at the first.

The crowd that gathered in front of the Courthouse this morning was a good deal in the nature of a forlorn hope. All night long, wherever men could congregate and talk, the case had been discussed and the only opinion that came in the last analysis was a "hung jury."

The friends of Galbraith had picked out the men who they believe were the two holding out, and they said that they did not believe that there would be any change.

An hour before the time set for the opening of court, the room was well filled, and down on the square there was a crowd. They were a very much discontented lot, for the people who have been so outspoken in their defense of the mob have been expecting an acquittal. This morning the best they looked for was a mistrial, and with the Gooch trial and that of Hacker, and perhaps a long list of other accused mob leaders and sympathizers ahead, this created much dissatisfied comment.

It was believed by the attorneys, however, that a disagreement in this trial would have the same effect on the other lynching cases as an acquittal, and that the State would not try to force the issue beyond the trial of Doss Galbraith unless there was a verdict of guilty.

Galbraith does not expect any change in the mind of the jury.

"They are 'hung,'" he said this morning, "and that is all there is to it. I had hoped for acquittal, but I reckon now I shall have to be satisfied with a vote of 10 to 2. I don't believe all the argument in the world will change the two men whom I have picked out as being the ones who are against me."

Galbraith and his wife were in court early. Mrs. Galbraith is ill, but will remain with her husband until there is either an agreement or a formal announcement of mistrial.

Quick Verdict Was Expected.

The jury went out to deliberate on the verdict at 10 minutes to 6 last evening, at the conclusion of Prosecutor Patterson's speech, which closed the case for the State. Hardly anyone left the courtroom, although it was supper time, as it was generally expected that a verdict would be reached with little delay.

So sure were the friends of Doss Galbraith that he was to be freed that they had planned to have the band that gives occasional concerts in the city square be there early in the evening to lead the escort that intended to pick up the defendant and carry him on their shoulders the moment he was outside the jurisdiction of the court and on the sidewalk within 100 feet of the light tower where the negroes were hanged.

In half an hour, not having heard anything from the jury room, Judge Lincoln sent for the jurors. They filed to their places and the Court asked them if they had agreed upon a verdict.

"We have taken three ballots," reported the foreman, "and as yet are unable to agree."

A murmur went through the courtroom, but the rising of half a dozen deputy sheriffs to their feet quickly brought silence.

"I do not wish you to state how you stand," said Judge Lincoln, "but you may tell me the vote."

"It is 10 to 2," was the reply.

Reception to Galbraith.

The jury was then sent to supper, and for an hour the courtroom was deserted except for a few spectators who had come from out of town, and who produced from under benches boxes containing food, and ate their suppers there.

Before 8 o'clock, the hour at which the jury was ordered to return, the courtroom was filled again. Mr. and Mrs. Galbraith were among the first to arrive. Neither of them had expressed any opinion of the situation, and had left the courtroom like the spectators when the jury went to supper, but when they returned Mrs. Galbraith was accompanied by three women friends who, with her sister-in-law, kept her company until court was adjourned.

At 9:30 Judge Lincoln announced that he would not keep the jury out any longer, but would have them report in the morning. They came downstairs, received the usual instructions, and in five minutes more the courtroom was dark.

But the crowd on the square were a disgruntled lot. They had planned a celebration, and they were loath to let go. They had to content themselves with keeping Mr. and Mrs. Galbraith at the foot of the courthouse stairs for half an hour before they would let them go home.

Court's Instructions Fair.

The instructions of the Court to the jury are generally regarded as having been fair. It is understood that Attorney-General Hadley prepared the instructions asked by the State. Judge Lincoln went at length into a definition of what constitutes conspiracy under the law and then said:

"If you find the defendant was engaged in a conspiracy or common design to take the life of Horace Duncan, the defendant and others are equally guilty of a conspiracy or common design to take human life.

"If this defendant had any connection with such conspiracy, or common design, he is as responsible for the death of Horace Duncan as if he had killed him with his own hand.

"It would make no difference whether this defendant was a party to this conspiracy or common design at first or not. If he became a party to it later he is equally guilty.

"When the crime is actually committed by one or more in such conspiracy or common design, when the others are present, whether the others take actual part or not, if they aid, or abet, or encourage, by word or deed, or demonstration, they are equally guilty.

"If you find that this defendant was there and aided or abetted, or encouraged the crime by word, sign, look or action, you are to find him guilty, whether the identity of those who committed the crime be established or not."

The defense objected to the last two paragraphs. The objections were taken. In other respects the instructions were satisfactory to the defense.

ENDS LIFE WITH CARBOLIC ACID

Wm. Koenig Washes Down Disinfectant With Beer Wife Brought.

SHE KNOCKS VIAL AWAY

North St Louis Couple Had Prepared to Move to New South Side Home.

William Koenig, 3603 Florissant avenue, swallowed a disinfectant containing carbolic acid Thursday night and died.

Koenig, who was 23 years old, and his wife and 2-year-old child, Esther, had passed the day with his parents at 4011 Florissant avenue, and had returned to their own home. Baby Esther was put to bed early and was soon fast asleep. Koenig retired about 9 p. m., but Mrs. Koenig sat up sewing.

Koenig could not sleep for the heat, and arising asked his wife to get a little beer. She complied with his request, and before drinking the beer Koenig swallowed the dose that caused his death in a few hours.

"He gave no intimation of what he intended," said Mrs. Koenig. "He was just as cheerful as could be. When I came in with the beer he got up and began rummaging on the kitchen shelf, saying he had placed a dime there. I paid no attention, and soon I saw him get the bottle. With his back to me he drew the cork, and ten, turning, he raised the bottle to his lips, saying:

She Knocks the Bottle Away.

"He drained the bottle. I knocked it from his lips. He said nothing, but seized the beer and took a long draft. Then he fell to the floor insensible. I called the doctor, but nothing could be done to save him.

"The medicine was a prescription that was given for me July 10 by Dr. Harmon. It was a disinfectant and was very powerful.

"We had just bought a little place down on Gravois road and were going to move into it when our rent for this place became due. We were at the place last Sunday and were going again next Sunday. He was always good and kind and, even though he did drink sometimes more than was good for him, we never quarreled.

"The policeman who came here last night intimated that the medicine that killed my husband was bought by some woman last night. But he was wrong, as Dr. Harmon knows."

Boy Hurt by Baseball.

Benny Pincus, 11 years old, 1415 Carr street, was taken to the City Hospital Thursday evening suffering from internal injuries inflicted by a baseball. Bennie was watching other boys playing ball in the alley. The ball was accidentally thrown toward him, hitting him in the stomach. He will recover in a week.

JOINT STATEHOOD BEATEN AT TUCSON

Proposition, However, Only Loses by Small Majority of 38 Votes.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

TUCSON, Ariz., Aug. 24.—Although the anti-joint statehood element won by 38 majority in the Republican primary held here yesterday, the statehood adherents are elated and say they will win next time. The claim is made that all corporations worked against the joint statehood ticket.

About 30 per cent of the anti vote was Democratic and it was mostly voted by railroad employes. This marks the first step in the merging of Republicans and Democrats in the territorial joint statehood struggle.

ROLLERS UNDER MUSEUM.

Aull Suggests Lindell Pavilion for Collection.

The Park Department is taking great pains to keep from giving the World's Fair company an excuse for slighting the restoration of that section of Forest Park which was included in the Fair Grounds.

Park Commissioner Aull declined absolutely to deal on the subject with the committee representing the St. Louis Public Museum, which called on him at his office. They asked if the Park department intended to permit the retention of the west wing of the Art Palace, which has for some months been occupied by the museum.

The committee was composed of L. D. Kingsland and Director McGee.

"I have no power whatever over any portion of the Fair Grounds," Mr. Aull told the committee. "In the plans for the restoration of Forest Park, as agreed on between the World's Fair and the Board of Public Improvements, certain buildings were marked for retention. The west wing of the Art Palace was not one of these. I have no power whatever to change the ruling of the Board of Public Improvements and to order another building retained."

The committee then asked Mr. Aull to grant the use of another building in which to store the possessions of the museum temporarily until another home could be found. Mr. Aull suggested the big Lindell pavilion, now not used for street car traffic.

KILLED IN WRECK.

Engineer of Wabash Special Dead, Two Others Hurt.

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Aug. 24.—A Wabash special train carrying two theatrical companies to Chicago and one to Detroit and the Canadian Pacific regular passenger train from Toronto collided at the crossing just east of this city today.

Canadian Pacific Engineer McKay of Toronto Junction was killed, Fireman Patterson of this city was seriously hurt, and Baggageman Alexander Wiley of this city was probably fatally injured.

None of the passengers on either train was injured.

CANDIDATE MAKES GOOD AS ORATOR

Flentge Was Given Just One Chance to Show That He Could Speak.

WARMED UP HIS HEARERS

Promised to Make Railroad Commissioners' Office Useful to Public.

When E. W. Flentge, Republican candidate for Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner, arose to address the members of the Twenty-second Ward Republican League Club Thursday night, few of those present were aware that the speaker's oratorical ability was on trial, with the State Committtee as the judge of its merits.

Somebody recently told Secretary McCoy of the Republican State Committee that Flentge could not make a creditable speech.

"If you let that man Flentge take the stump he will hurt the ticket," declared McCoy's adviser.

Flentge had never spoken from a public platform and fear that he might embarrass the party if he attempted a display of his forensic talent worried the State Committee greatly.

Secretary McCoy wired Frentge to come to St. Louis at once. Flentge arrived from his home in Cape Girardeau the next morning.

Secretary McCoy promptly told the nominee of what he had heard. Mr. Flentge blushed and admitted timidly that he was not in the class with Cicero or Demosthenes.

"Well, now, you know," said Secretary McCoy, "our speaking department must be up to date this year. If you can't make a good speech you would better stay off of the platform. We are inviting only the best orators to Missouri this year. Think the matter over, and if you think this knock is unjustifiable, go ahead and see what you can do."

Flentge did as suggested. He spent a whole day writing out his speech, and when he had finished it, submitted it to the secretary.

Mr. McCoy perused it carefully. At the conclusion he complimented Mr. Flentge.

"It is a rattling good talk," was the secretary's comment, "and if you speak it half as well as you have written it, you will make votes for yourself and the party. I see no reason to cross a t or dot an i."

"If you are satisfied I am," answered Flentge.

Accordingly a member of the State Committee was sent to the Republican meeting at 3137 Pine street to hear Flentge deliver his political class oration.

That he "made good" is the unanimous conclusion of all who came to hear him. Mr. McCoy was pleased, the State Committee was pleased, and now Mr. Flentge will receive full credentials to speak at Republican gatherings throughout the State.

Pledges to Aid People.

Mr. Flentge told his auditors why he is a Republican, why he believed voters should vote the Republican ticket and why he deemed that the name of Roosevelt and the administration of Roosevelt should inspire every American citizen with pride.

Then he told something about the Railroad Commissioner's office. He said the Democrats had controlled this office for 30 years and had done nothing.

The Democratic railroad commissioners have never regulated anything, according to Flentge, although there are plenty of laws on the statute books requiring them to keep railroad rates within proper limitations.

"The railroad commissioners," said Mr. Flentge, "have the right to compel the railroad companies to run enough trains to accommodate the traveling public and the shipping public, so as to avoid needless delay in the transportation of passengers and freight. They have the right to prevent unfair and unlawful combinations between parallel and competing railroads.

"The law clothes the commission with all needed power to prevent the great carriers of freight and passengers from oppressing the people who must rely on public service. It gives them the right to secure for the people all the privileges and advantages contemplated by law.

"I want to say that if I am elected, there will be no strings tied to me. I will be absolutely free to do my whole duty to all the people."

NO BEER, USED KNIFE.

Zrinn Stabbed Himself Because Companions Quit Him.

The police have learned that John Zrinn, who claimed to have been stabbed in a vacant lot three days ago by a negro, tried to commit suicide because two companions would not permit him to have any more beer. Zrinn was in the City Hospital with two stab wounds in his breast.

The police investigated his story and learned that Zrinn, accompanied by Fred Kran, 4021 North Twenty-third street, and Frank Bruner, 3730 North Twenty-first street, had been drinking. Finally his companions said they had had enough and started to leave, but Zrinn insisted that they have more.

The men refused to take any more or to allow him to have more, saying he had had too much for his own good. At that Zrinn is said to have pulled out his knife and said: "Well, if I can't have any more beer I might as well die right here," and stabbed himself twice in the breast near the heart.

BRYAN IN OLD COLISEUM.

Committee Can Have Building if It's Wanted.

The Committee on Time and Place for the Bryan Missouri reception will meet at the Jefferson Club Friday and will probably select a place for holding the demonstration. At a meeting of the subcommittees of the Committees on Finance and Arrangements held Thursday, several places were discussed. Most members of the committee favored the old Coliseum, and it is thought this will be selected.

President Lehmann of the Library Board has offered the building to the committee. He said Thursday that he did not know whether it is in good condition, and that new wiring may be needed, but that the committee is welcome to make any improvements.

WOMAN AIDS FOOTPAD.

Participates in Hold-Up at Pine Bluff, Ark.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 24.—The police have arrested Murree Bell, a negro woman weighing 90 pounds, and Clarence Thomas, alias "Big Boy," a negro of 23, who weighs 250 pounds, charging them with highway robbery at Pine Bluff, Ark.

The prisoners are accused of holding up a white man with pistols near Pine Bluff and taking $180 in money from him. Arkansas officers are on the way to Dallas to secure the prisoners.

WEDS HER CHINESE LOVER IN SPITE OF STORIES ABOUT HIM

Grace McKay Quarreled With Woman Who Had Promised to Be Her Bridemaid and Who Adivsed Her Against the Wedding—The Courtship Was Brief.

After quarreling with her intended bridemaid, a white woman who had married a Chinese laundryman, an being forced to give up the clothing she had borrowed from her for the wedding, Grace McKay, a white girl, was married to Charlie Lum, a Chinaman, Thursday night in East St. Louis. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Henry Meyers, pastor of the German Evangelical Church, who, three weeks ago, had married Miss Mae de Pung and Lee Troy, at whose wedding Miss McKay acted as bridemaid. After the ceremony they left for Chicago.

The marriage license was issued last Tuesday, in East St. Louis. Miss McKay borrowed a waist and some other clothing from Mrs. Troy, saying that they would return as soon as they got the license. They were to be married Thursday, and Mrs. Troy was to act as bridemaid at the wedding. After they got the license Miss McKay and Lum left for St. Louis and did not return until Thursday night. After they left, Mrs. Troy heard several uncomplimentary things about Charley Lum, and she decided to advise Miss McKay not to marry him.

She was angry because Miss McKay had not kept her promise to return as soon as the license was issued, and when she returned Thursday night she told Miss McKay the things she had heard, and advised her not to marry Lum. When Miss McKay refused to give him up Mrs. Troy demanded her clothes and refused to accompany them to the wedding or act as bridemaid.

Courtship Was Brief.

Miss McKay gave up the clothes and left the Troy laundry. The bridemaid at the wedding was Mrs. Iosa Shuey, a white woman who married a Chinaman, and lives in St. Louis, and who had accompanied them to East St. Louis.

Miss McKay, who is 20 years old, met Charley Lum in Springfield, Ill., three weeks ago. When she returned to St. Louis, which was her home, they kept up a correspondence. Last Sunday, Miss McKay went to East St. Louis to visit Mrs. Troy, 607 Missouri avenue, who had been her chum for two years. She told the Troys nothing of her acquaintance with Lum, but spoke about a Chinaman who runs a laundry on Grand avenue, St. Louis, whom she said was her sweetheart, and who had asked her to marry him, but she said she had "turned him down."

Monday, Charley Lum appeared at Troy's laundry to visit Miss McKay. He proposed marriage, and she accepted. She told Mrs. Troy, who tried to persuade her to marry her St. Louis sweetheart and not to marry the strange Chinaman whom they did not know. She persisted in her intention, however, and it was agreed that they should get the license and be married Thursday, and in the meantime they were to remain as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Troy.

Lum had told Miss McKay and the Troys that he owned a laundry at Hannibal, Mo., another laundry at Springfield, Ill., and a chop-suey house in Chicago.

Doubts About Laundries.

After the couple had disappeared after getting the license, Troy learned that Lum had pleaded guilty to manslaughter in St. Louis in November, 1905, and had been sentenced to one year in Jail, having been paroled in April, 1906. It was claimed that in a fight between Lum and another Chinaman shots were fired, which resulted in the death of a girl named Mamie Wing. Other stories aroused doubts as to the laundries and restaurant Lum said he owned.

These were the things told Miss McKay upon her return Thursday night, but she refused to consider them and announced that she would marry Lum regardless of his past life. Upon being asked by Mrs. Troy as to her whereabouts since she left Tuesday, Miss McKay refused to tell, except that she had been in St. Louis. Mrs. Iosa Shuey, who was with them, also refused to discuss their two days' absence.

Troy and his wife demanded that Miss McKay and Lum leave their laundry, and told them never to return. Troy had been expected to arrange with the minister for the marriage, but Troy refused to further recognize them.

Miss McKay, Lum and Mrs. Shuey left the laundry and went to the home of Rev. Henry Meyers, 321 North Eighth street. Miss McKay had remembered the way to the minister's home since her visit there when she acted as bridemaid for Miss De Pung and Troy. With Mrs. Shuey as witness, the ceremony was performed, and Mr. and Mrs. Lum boarded a train for Chicago at 9 p. m.

Lum is an Americanized Chinaman, and has no queue. He speaks the English language fairly well, and wears clothes of American make.

etc. The 'ed' is retained in 'closed,' 'placed,' 'liked,' etc., in order to preserve the sound of the radical vowels."

The Missouri resolution went all around the country, everybody talked about them for seven days, then the "filologists" got up from under the brickbats that had been thrown at their beloved rules and started all over again. This time they went at it simpler. First, they got the school superintendent's department of the National Educational Association to announce that the world would start on a dozen words and when they had been learned correctly the teacher would give out a few more. Here are the dozen new ways we're to start with:

"Buzness" for business.
"Enuf" for enough.
"Fether" for feather.
"Masure" for measure.
"Plasure" for pleasure.
"Red" for read.
"Ruf" for rough.
"Trauf" for trough.
"Thru" for through.
"Tuf" for tough.
"Tung" for tongue.
"Yung" for young.

The President's official sanction of this reform movement is regarded as the most effective and speediest method of inaugurating the new system of spelling throughout the country. Not only will the printed documents emanating from the President utilize the reform spelling, but his correspondence also will be spelled in the new style.

Secretary Loeb has sent for the list of words which have been "reformed," and upon its arrival will immediately order all correspondence of the President and of the executive force of the White House spelled in accordance therewith. As the Spelling Reform Committee shall adopt new reforms they will be added to the President's list and also that of the Public Printer.

While the order to the printer today does not contemplate an immediate reform in the spelling of official documents from the executive departments in Washington, it is regarded as more than likely that respective heads of the departments will fall in line with the President's ideas and have their official documents printed in the new spelling.

LEHMANN APPROVES, BUT, JUDGE M'DONALD DOESN'T

Frederick W. Lehmann, president of the Public Library Board, approves of the modification and simplification of spelling. He said:

"Of course, the action of the President in adopting the Carnegie spelling will have a tendency toward the universal adoption of the simplified spelling of those particular words, but does not necessarily mean that the dictionaries have to change the words nor does it mean compulsory action of the schools. The only case I can now recall where legal action was taken toward the adoption of certain spelling or pronunciation of a word, was when the Legislature changed the pronunciation of Arkansas to 'Arkansaw.'

"I approve of the simplification of the spelling and pronunciation of words and think that the time will come when all of the lengthy and difficult words will be greatly changed and modified. Great changes have occurred since I was a boy and many words have been modified, both in spelling and pronunciation. Of course, I do not mean to say that a revolution will take place, but reform in spelling will gradually occur. I do not recall all of the words suggested by Carnegie, but approve of what I remember."

Judge Jesse McDonald does not approve of the action of the President in adopting the suggestion of Carnegie in spelling. He said:

"The adoption of Carnegie's suggestion will lead to the suggestion of others equally as prominent as Carnegie and will cause such a confusion in our spelling that I think it unwise to adopt this single suggestion; therefore, I do not approve of it."

PHONE LINEMEN STRIKE.

Missouri-Kansas Co. Employes Want More Money.

SEDALIA, Mo., Aug. 24.—Forty linemen in the employ of the Missouri and Kansas Telephone Co. struck this morning. Thirty of these are the regular force and 10 are engaged in construction work. The only men remaining at work are District Wire Chief Leslie Elseman, Exchange Foreman Edward McCoy and Construction Foreman W. C. Summers.

The order to strike came from Kansas City. The men here are paid $2.40 a day and the Electrical Workers' Union has made a demand for $2.70 a day, the same as is paid in Kansas City.

The union demands a uniform rate in all cities where the Missouri and Kansas company operates. District Manager J. H. Lincoln says that the men who struck here are no longer in the company's employ, he having received instructions to discharge them.

GETS VERDICT OF $1.

Husband Danced With Other Woman and Caused Suit.

It was impressed upon Mrs. F. W. Judlin of 7411 Hoover street in Justice Campbell's court on the Olive Street Road Friday that she has no right to say unkind things to another woman even if the other woman asks Mr. Judlin to dance with her.

Mr. and Mrs. Judlin went to a picnic June 17. Mrs. Nettie Voss of 7316 Hoover street was there too. Mrs. Voss asked Mr. Judlin to dance with her and he obliged. A few days later Mrs. Judlin met Mrs. Voss and gave her a talking-to. That started a feud and other things were said. Mrs. Voss brought suit against Mrs. Judlin for slander and she was given a verdict of $1 by Justice Campbell.

SAYS BRYAN WILL WIN.

Texas Senator Sees Another Possibility in 1908.

United States Senator Samuel A. Culberson of Texas spent a few hours in St. Louis Friday morning on his way to New York to attend the Bryan reception.

Senator Culberson said that Bryan will be nominated for President by a unanimous vote, and there will be no other name before the convention. He predicts the election of Bryan over any Republican nominee.

In speaking of the Republican nomination for the presidency Senator Culberson said: "The race lies between Joe' Cannon and Secretary Taft, and it is difficult to tell which will be nominated at this stage of affairs. It makes no difference which is nominated. I think the Democrats will defeat him. I do not think that Roosevelt is a candidate for the third-term nomination."

Senator Culberson says the State of Texas is very prosperous this year and good crops are predicted.

Senator Culberson was accompanied to Washington and New York by Col. R. M. Johnson, National Committeeman of Texas and publisher of the Houston Post. They were met at the Union Station by Col. Tom Randolph and driven in an automobile to the St. Louis Club for breakfast. Senator Culberson and Col. Johnson departed for Washington Friday afternoon.

CUT WOMAN'S FOREHEAD.

Girl Fined $10 for Attacking Adult Neighbor.

Mary Reany, a slender, 16-year-old girl, gashed the forehead of her neighbor, Mrs. Annie Kehoe, with a medicine bottle in a quarrel between the two families and was fined $10 Friday in the Dayton Street Police Court by Justice O'Hallaron, sitting in the place of Judge Pollard, who is ill.

Mrs. Kehoe lives at 1519 O'Fallon street. Miss Reany lives next door. She says Mrs. Kehoe whipped her small daughter for running away to the Reanys' home and also made remarks about the Reanys.

MAPLEWOOD WETS STREETS WITH OIL

With Water Price Soaring, Citizens Raise $500 for Sprinkling.

SUPPLY FOR TWO YEARS

Thoroughfares, When Soaked for Few Days, Are Dustless All Season.

With water in the county at a prohibitive price, Maplewood business men are sprinkling their streets with oil, purchased with a $500 fund raised by subscription. The sprinkler squirting oil passed up and down Manchester avenue for three-quarters of a mile in the business section Friday.

The dust layer is crude oil shipped in a tank car by the Standard Oil Co. to the St. Louis Oil Co. The oil cost $425. The remainder of the $500 was used otherwise.

The business men tried to get county water at a reasonable rate and failed. Then they asked to have city water piped for sprinkling purposes. The city refused to furnish water for sprinkling as well as for family use.

Considering an Eastern idea, the citizens learned that $500 would buy oil enough to lay the dust for the remainder of this summer and all of next summer. The subscription books were opened to the merchants of Manchester avenue. All contributed sums varying from $5 to $25.

The sprinkling was begun Tuesday and has continued every day. After it has been kept up a few more days it will be discontinued for the rest of the season. When the oil becomes soaked in the ground by rainfall and traffic, a hard, dustless roadbed is the result. No further sprinkling of any kind is then needed until the next season.

Enough for Next Spring.

The money bought enough oil for the present application and another coating early in the spring, after which nothing will be done in the way of sprinkling for the remainder of next summer.

The oil-soaked roadbed is causing some inconvenience in Maplewood at present. The fluid is being carried by the feet into the houses and is causing stains upon the carpets. This source of annoyance will cease, however, within a few days when the street becomes dry.

The oil made the street car track so slippery that two Suburban cars jumped the track without, however, doing any damage, Thursday. The motormen could not hold their cars when they wanted to stop before a switch in the center of town. The derailed cars were soon back upon the tracks.

HAND BURNED IN MIDAIR.

Lineman Loses Three Fingers From Contact With Cable.

John W. McGinnis of 1122 North Seventh street is in a serious condition at the Ctiy Hospital from burns inflicted while he was working with electric cables on poles at Second and Rutger streets.

McGinnis, who is a lineman, was removing some Postal Telegraph wires Thursday afternoon with a companion, Dennis Creedon of 3414 Louisiana avenue. He grasped a telephone cable and an electric light wire at the same time, and fell unconscious on the cables. He lay in this position for five minutes before Creedon could reach him. When he was finally rescued, three fingers were burned off below the first joints. The fingers were amputated at the hospital. He will recover.

POLICE BELIEVE MISS SCHAFER'S SLAYER CAUGHT

Evansville Suspect Will Be Taken to Bedford Where Teacher Was Killed.

KIDNAPING THE CHARGE

But Girl With Prisoner Says She Left Her Home Voluntarily.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Aug. 24.—The police here believe they have the murderer of Sarah Schafer, the Bedford, Ind., school teacher, in the person of Ernest Tanksley, arrested here yesterday on a charge of kidnaping Nellie Rainey, 17 years old.

The kidnaping charge will hardly stick, as the woman claims she left home of her own accord and later joined Tanksley.

What is believed to be startling evidence has been placed in the hands of the Prosecuting Attorney at Bedford within the past two weeks that makes him believe the murderer of the school teacher is now in custody.

A bundle of letters written by Tanksley to Miss Rainey previous to the Schafer murder was recently discovered by the father of the girl, and in one of them Tanksley asked her to meet him on the very night of the murder of Miss Schafer and at the very place the crime was committed.

This letter leads to the belief that Tanksley intended to kill Miss Rainey, and that Miss Schafer, who was about the same size and age as Miss Rainey, passed the fatal point at the time the man was expecting Miss Rainey, and that he dragged her into the alley and murdered her without knowing he had the wrong woman.

Since the receipt of the letter in question that furnished the clew the Prosecuting Attorney has been busy and believes he has collected enough evidence to convict Tanksley. The Marshal of Bedford and the father of Miss Rainey arrived at the time Tanksley was taken in custody, and will leave with the pair for Bedford today.

Miss Rainey, whose home is at Heltonville, near Bedford, says she will commit suicide rather than testify against Tanksely.

SAVED BY "LOST" AD.

Copy of Post-Dispatch Proved Man Told the Truth.

An advertisement in the Lost and Found column of the Post-Dispatch of July 31 caused the release of William Corbliss from the Central Police Station at Belleville.

Corbliss was arrested when he attempted to sell a case of surgical instruments to Dr. J. G. Massie of West Main street, Belleville, for 75 cents. The instruments are valued at $25, and the cheapness at which they were offered aroused the physician's suspicions. He reported the matter to the police and Corbliss was arrested on suspicion.

Corbliss declared that he had found the instruments on Park avenue, near Thirteenth street, St. Louis. While he was at the station John Corbliss, a brother of the prisoner, showed Chief Nebgen the advertisement in the Post-Dispatch of July 31. The instruments had been lost by Dr. J. N. Phillips, 1009 North Garrison avenue, "between Eighteenth street and Broadway."

Dr. Phillips was notified of the recovery of the instruments and went to Belleville and got them. Corbliss was released.

LEAST FINE FOR SCORCHERS, $25

Judge Tracy Says He Will Try to Discourage Auto Speed Madness.

FLIGHT INCREASES FINE

City Hall Police Court Will Be Bad Place for Reckless Chauffeurs.

The minimum fine for violation of the automobile speed-limit ordinance will hereafter be $25, in the City Hall Police Court, no matter what mitigating circumstances appear, and the fine will be increased in future rather than diminished.

Judge Tracy made this formal announcement Friday morning from the bench.

"Violations of the speed ordinance by automobiles are increasing rather than decreasing," said Judge Tracy, after he had received the plea of guilty of James W. Bemis and Augustus C. Halsey, who were the rival drivers in a recent automobile race which resulted in the severe injury of Mrs. Herman A. Steinwender at Grand avenue and Pine street, by being thrown from one of the machines.

"The minimum fine for violations of the speed ordinance will hereafter be $25 in this court, no matter what mitigating circumstances are urged.

"I make the formal public announcement now so that all persons who violate the ordinance may know what to expect. It is a frequently demonstrated fact that even where machines are operated in the city at a speed that does not exceed the statute limitation it requires the greatest watchfulness to avoid accidents. Where the speed limit is exceeded it is nothing more than good fortune that accidents are avoided. The lives of citizens cannot be endangered in this way.

"I shall fine Mr. Bemis $10 and costs in the present instance," said Judge Tracy, "and hereafter I give warning that no fine for automobile speeding will be less than $25 in this court."

Halsey was fined $25 and costs. It was his second offense.

Four Scorchers Plead Guilty.

Mrs. Steinwender is still confined to her home, 3906 Botanical avenue, as the result of the automobile accident. She was removed from the Missouri Baptist Sanitarium Wednesday. She is still suffering from scalp wounds, which it was thought for 24 hours after the accident might terminate seriously. Mrs. Steinwender will not be able to leave the house for two or three days, her husband says.

Charles M. Barnard of 1320 Union avenue escaped with a fine of $10 and costs. Patrolman Stinger, who is in charge of the police automobile, pleaded for clemency in this case.

"Mr. Barnard," he declared, "put his automobile at the disposal of the police after Officer Cooney had been injured in an accident to the police automobile. He took Officer Cooney to a doctor and afterward I arrested him."

Thomas H. Garrett, aged about 21, living at 4424 Delmar boulevard, was fined $25 on a plea of guilty. Officer Stinger declared that the machine was running 25 miles an hour about 4 p. m. Thursday, near Pine street and Jefferson avenue.

"Garrett told me when I arrested him that he was going to catch a train," said Stinger.

"What, in your opinion, would be the effect on the offense of autmobile speeding if the offender continued his speed after he was hailed by the police?" was asked of Judge Tracy.

"If that were brought out in testimony I would consider it an aggravation of the offense and would increase the fine. I can understand that an automobile driver might not know he was exceeding the speed limit. When he is hailed by the police, however, and persists despite the hail it is conclusive proof of malicious violation, which is a more serious offense than an ordinary violation."

WOMAN GRABS BURGLAR.

When She Screams, However, He Escapes With Property.

A hand under her pillow awakened Mrs. John James of 441 North Eighth street, East St. Louis, at 3 a. m. Friday and she discovered a burglar standing beside her bed. Disregarding the man's threats to kill her if she made an outcry, Mrs. James grabbed the man's hand and screamed, awakening the members of her family. The burglar jerked away from her and escaped through a rear door, after having ransacked the house before he entered Mrs. James' room.

Mrs. James' husband and son, John, and Mr. and Mrs. B. McCormack were sleeping upstairs. On account of the heat Mrs. James slept downstairs on a folding bed. The doors and windows were left open, but the screens were hooked from the inside.

The burglar had entered the house by cutting a hole in the rear screen door. The dresser drawers were ransacked and the contents were piled on the floor in some of the rooms.

Hearing his wife's screams, Mr. James ran downstairs with his revolver in his hand, followed by his son, but the burglar was then going out the back door. He leaped the fence and disappeared through the alley. A coat and vest and $3 in cash were missed.

CUSTOMERS ENTERTAINED

Ferguson-McKinney Co. Dines Purchasers From Mississippi.

With five salesmen—W. F. Norton, A. C. Benners, C. L. Johnson, E. A. Skillern and T. L. Mauldin—representing the Mississippi department, C. S. McKinney, vice-president, and A. R. Smith of the Ferguson-McKinney Dry Goods Co., Twelfth street and Lucas avenue, entertained at dinner 44 merchants from Mississippi now purchasing stock for the fall and winter from the Ferguson-McKinney company.

While the merchants were assembled in the company's house Thursday Mr. McKinney sent word to all his salesmen of the district that they and their friends were to go to the Mercantile Club at 12 o'clock, where they were to dine with him. The two large dining rooms on the fourth floor were thrown together and Mr. McKinney was toastmaster. All the visiting merchants responded, expressing their appreciation of the company's earnest endeavor to faithfully treat its customers.

Jumped and Was Hurt.

Mrs. A. J. Desmond of Montreal, Canada, who is visiting Mrs. James W. Grace of 3309 Easton avenue, received a very painful scalp wound in jumping from a buggy on North Broadway Friday morning, in which she was riding with Mrs. Grace. At Madison street the horse became frightened and ran away, but soon after Mrs. Desmond leaped from the buggy Mrs. Grace regained control of the animal and then took Mrs. Desmond to a physician.

'll come back to you after the summer's over.'

"'Why not come back now?' I asked.

"'I'm having too good a time,' she said.

"Then she told me about having an engagement with a lumber dealer. She said she was going to meet him at McTague's and have dinner with him. That made me suspicious. After that she dropped other remarks that made mo believe she was associating with other men.

Found Her Dressed Up.

"She would start telling me something about some other man, and then she would catch herself, but I heard enough to convince me that she was deceiving me.

"Thursday night I got off duty at 6 o'clock and went to the home of my father, 3708 Lucky street. I put on citizen's clothes. Then I went to the home of my mother-in-law to have a talk with my wife. As I entered the house I saw her getting ready to leave. She was dressed up in her best clothes, and I thought she was going to meet someone.

"I decided to follow. I left the house without saying a word to my wife, and stood where I could see her when she left the house.

"Nothing was further from my mind then than murder. I had no more intention of killing my wife than I had of taking my own life.

"I always carry my revolver, whether on duty or not.

Youth First Met Her.

"I watched at the corner a few minutes, and then I saw my wife leave the house and board a southbound Jefferson car. I jumped on the same car and remained on the rear platform, where she could not see me. At Pine street she pushed the button to stop the car, and I jumped off before the car reached the far corner.

"I saw her alight and meet a young man. He was not Brophy. He was some other fellow whom I had never seen before. They took an eastbound Olive car. It ran on Pine street from Twenty-first. I boarded the next car and followed them to Eighteenth street. At Eighteenth and Pine streets they got off and walked north toward Olive.

"When they reached the Majestic bar, which is beneath the Hotel Royal, the young fellow who was with my wife walked into the bar. Then she stepped to the corner, where Brophy as waiting for her. He was standing against a telegraph pole.

"I didn't know Brophy at this time. I have never seen him before.

"Brophy and my wife walked west on Olive to Nineteenth and then south to Pine. I followed them, without either of them noticing me. I had my hat pulled down over my eyes. At Nineteenth and Pine they turned and came back to the Royal.

"Brophy and my wife entered the Royal through the Eighteenth street entrance. I waited a moment. Had I seen a policeman things might have turned out differently. But no policeman was in sight and I started upstairs after my wife. You know what happened after that as well as I do."

An executioner could not have acted with more deliberation than McNamara after following his wife and Brophy into the hotel.

Saw Husband, Warned Brophy.

When Brophy and Mrs. McNamara reached the second floor Brophy walked to the clerk's desk and registered.

Mrs. McNamara stood back about ten feet from the desk and about the same distance from the landing of the stairs, up which her husband was walking. She saw his head above the landing before he was within ten steps of the top. This was because he is a very tall man—the tallest policeman on the force.

As soon as she saw her husband, Mrs. McNamara cried to Brophy to run. Before she could move, her husband had seized her.

With one hand tightly gripping her wrist, McNamara drew his revolver and fired at Brophy just as the latter turned around at Mrs. McNamara's call.

The bullet entered Brophy's breast, and he fell to the floor. Before his body touched the floor, a second bullet entered the front of his body.

McNamara, in firing, released his hold on his wife, and she started to run toward the stairway. She had gone but a step when her husband headed her off and, pressing the revolver close to her breast, fired.

The bullet reached its mark just as Mrs. McNamara reached the head of the stairs and was about to descend. She fell head first and rolled down several steps, landing in a heap. As he was following, McNamara fired another shot, which also entered her breast.

Called Ambulance First.

McNamara stood still a moment, the smoking revolver in his hand. Then he stooped and kissed his dead wife's face. Just then the clanging of a gong was heard. An ambulance was passing the hotel.

True to his police training, McNamara rushed downstairs, leaping over his wife's body, and called to the ambulance driver to stop.

"There's a couple of persons shot in here," he said. The ambulance was stopped and backed to the hotel.

Detectives Joyce and O'Brien came by and met McNamara at the alley just south of the hotel. They took him in a patrol wagon to the Four Courts.

Reaching police headquarters, the detectives took their prisoner into the office of Acting Chief Gillaspy. The latter was not there, and McNamara was locked up in the holdover. Later he was taken into Chief Desmond's office, and after being questioned, was sent back to the holdover to await the action of the Coroner. During the night he was visited by his father, who is a driver of truck No. 8 of the Fire Department.

The shooting occurred at 7:40 p. m., not quite 40 minutes after McNamara entered the home of his mother-in-law.

Her Mother Blames Him.

Mrs. Thomas Manser of 2821A Howard street, mother of Mrs. McNamara, says McNamara is to blame for the events leading to the tragedy.

"He brought it all on himself by his brutal treatment of my daughter," she said Friday to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "and I'll see him hanged for it.

"He has worse than killed me, taking my only child from me, my poor, little girl. Whatever wrong she did, he drove her to it.

"Since they separated in March my daughter has been living with me. Nearly every night since he has come here and quarreled with her. Only Sunday night he was here and stayed until 4 o'clock in the morning, quarreling with her. He never gave her any money, not even for the child, since the separation, and I had to feed and clothe them both.

"My daughter told me he had threatened to kill her and then claim the protection of the unwritten law. She said he sometimes said he would kill me and himself. Some of my neighbors have heard him threaten her.

She Was Jealous First.

"Nellie was 21 years old. She was only 18 when she and McNamara were married. We were opposed to the marriage, but consented when she seemed determined to marry him.

"He abused her and sometimes struck her, she told me. She showed me bruises on her side which she said were caused by him striking her. They first separated 13 months after the wedding. Nellie objected to his attentions to another woman. Their boy was then three months old.

"She came home to me and stayed two weeks when McNamara came and took her back to their home. They separated again several months later.

"They were reconciled again after a few weeks and lived together until March. He treated her so mean that she could live with him no longer. Since she left him he has frequently spent nights near by watching my house."

Neighbors also say that McNamara was frequently seen watching the house for hours.

Mrs. Manser declared that she had never heard of Brophy before. She said her daughter never mentioned his name.

McNamara is 6 feet 4 inches in height. Mrs. McNamara was slightly more than 5 feet tall, while Brophy, a medium-built man, was not more than about 5 feet 6 or 7 inches. Brophy was 45 years old, and Mrs. McNamara but 20. McNamara is 31.

Many policemen and detectives called on McNamara in his cell and consoled him. To these he generally said something like this:

"I'll beat the case before a jury even if they indict me. She was a good girl, but I had to do it; I just had to do it."

Wanted to Quit Force.

McNamara, as a member of the Broadway squad, was stationed in the neighborhood of Sixth and Market streets until a few weeks ago, when he tendered his resignation to Acting Chief Gillaspy.

"What does this mean?" asked the Chief.

"I want to quit," said McNamara. "I'm having trouble with my wife and it's made me nearly crazy. I don't feel like working any more."

Chief Gillaspy did not want to accept the resignation and tried to talk McNamara out of his intention of leaving the force. Finally McNamara consented to remain, and was transferred to the North Market Street Station in the hope that the change would help him forget his domestic troubles.

A week ago McNamara witnessed a fight between two men and separated them without making arrests. For this charges were preferred against him by his Captain and he was to face the board Friday.

Mrs. Margaret Brophy of 2917 Cass avenue, Brophy's mother, at whose home Brophy had been living, and other members of the family said they never knew or heard of Mrs. McNamara before. The Brophy and Manser homes are less than two blocks apart.

Brophy's Wife Away.

Mrs. Brophy is 78 years old. She said Friday she could hardly believe anyone would harm as good a man as her son.

She said her son had been living at her home during the absence of his wife in Kansas City, where she is visiting.

Ethel, Brophy's pretty 12-year-old daughter, is with her mother.

Brophy was a well-known bartender, having worked at several downtown bars during the past fifteen years. His last place of employment was at the bar of McGrath & McMahon, Eighth and Olive streets.

Although he had lately lived a block from the Manser home, he was not acquainted with McNamara. The latter said he never saw Brophy until Thursday night.

Brophy a "Lady Killer."

A man who knew Brophy well said Friday:

"Brophy was an ideal bartender. That is, he was very polite and in good humor at all times. He was of a quiet disposition and had very little to say to most customers. It was only to men that he knew real well that he ever said any more than 'howdy.' He had enough experience to know that it did not pay to be friendly with every customer.

"But when Brophy was intimate with you he would stand and chat as long as you remained in front of the bar. He talked in a quiet, refined way, and was entertaining in his conversation.

"Occasionally, when the conversation would drift to women, Brophy would pose as a 'lady killer.' He frequently boasted of the number of married women he knew."

At the home of McNamara's parents, 3708 Lucky street, where he lived since the separation from his wife, a sister of McNamara said Friday that the family knew nothing of the affair except what they had seen in the newspapers.

The only eyewitnesses to the shooting were Charles Brown, hotel clerk, and Edward Freeman, negro porter. Both disappeared the moment McNamara began firing. Brown dived beneath his desk and Freeman ran into one of the rooms, closing the door behind him.

A large crowd of persons visited the Morgue Friday morning and asked permission to view the bodies of the murdered couple. Superintendent Vocke denied admission to everyone. No relatives called.

WANT FIRE PROTECTION.

Suburbanites Also Seek to Build Schoolhouse.

Residents of Pine Lawn, Council Grove, Hollywood, Kenwood and Edgewood, new residence subdivisions west of St. Louis, are moving for fire protection and school facilities. A meeting was held Thursday night in Edgewood, at which a temporary organization was effected. Committees were appointed and a mass meeting is to be held next Thursday night in Edgewood to take action.

The children of the subdivisions are now compelled to go to school at Normandy. The county school authorities do not favor the building of any more small school buildings and the residents have been advised that they will have to get together on the location for a schoolhouse large enough to accommodate the children of all the subdivisions.

Edgewood has offered to donate ground for the schoolhouse. An election was held Aug. 5 and an issue of $25,000 bonds was voted, but this election has been hold to be illegal because all qualified voters were permitted to vote, instead of only property-owing voters.

Edgewood covers a large area, extending from the Melrose road on the north to Page avenue on the south and immediately joins Wellston on the west.

John Bergherm was chairman of Thursday's meeting. It was decided to try to bring about the co-operation of the other subdivisions and have a school built as near the center of population as possible. A committee composed of John Bergherm, Anton Tewes, W. H. Wilkin and Messrs. Newman and McCurty was appointed to see what could be done toward obtaining fire protection. It is expected that a volunteer brigade will be formed.

STOPS RUNAWAY TEAM.

George Meyers, 29 years old, caught the bridle of a runaway horse, Thursday, on the City Hall Square, and, after being dragged almost a block over the pavement, brought the animal to a standstill and saved Mrs. Samuel Lindley and her 2-year-old son, Carrol, from injuries.

Before making the dash across the square the horse had kicked away the dashboard, and as Meyers brought the animal to a stop the exhausted woman fell to the ground with the child in her arm. Both were uninjured. The horse took fright at a street car. Meyers had prevented it from running into a sewer excavation on Plasa street. Mrs. Lindley lives in Godfrey.

KINNEY SETS PACE ON ATLANTIC CITY'S GIDDY BOARD WALK

Sad Sea Waves Have Creve Couer Beaten, Declares Senator as He Leads Louis Lemp and Joseph Hannauer Through "Bowery" Resorts—Speaks in Riddles of Bryan and Folk.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 24.—The Hon. Thomas E. Kinney of St. Louis and Missouri, who says he does not wish to be called "Snake" Kinney any more, is here getting into form for the Bryan reception in New York next week. Incidentally he is having the time of his life in this gayest of coast resorts.

Senator Kinney came on from St. Louis with Louis Lemp and Joseph Hannauer. Mr. Lemp is attending a meeting of brewers. Saturday night the trio will go to New York, Kinney as a member of the Bryan Reception Committee and Lemp and Hannauer as spectators of the show.

So far, they have only touched the very highest places here. At first Kinney seemed bashful, and let Lemp, who has been here before, do all the leading. But soon the one-time "Snake" was setting the pace.

The resort is crowded as never before, but the party got rooms at the largest and most fashionable hotel on the island.

When Kinney, hot, tired and dusty, entered the hotel lobby, the first thing he noticed was a group of men lounging around in evening clothes. He grabbed Lemp by the arm and jerked his thumb towards the white shirt fronts. "Say," he exclaimed, "this is a new one on me. I thought they only wore them things in winter. It's up to you to pilot this junket. I thought I was coming to a summer resort."

In the dining room, finding several French dishes on the menu, Kinney studied the card for some time, then turned to the waiter and said: "O, just bring me something to eat."

Board Walk Like the Pike.

It was not until they started out on the board walk that Kinney began to feel his stride.

"Why, this is as good as the Pike," he said, and puffing out his chest with the sea air, he took the lead.

There are several cafes in Atlantic City which have helped make the place famous. Lemp knew of them and gave the necessary directions, but Kinney led the way.

In one of the places the music of the orchestra pleased Kinney so much that he began waving an imaginary baton. When the brilliantly dressed women and the men at the little round tables among the palms smiled at him he grinned back at them cheerfully.

But it was the Bowery section along the board walk that took Kinney's fancy most. There are no cafes in the Bowery, but there are several unique beer gardens, where you see no evening clothes and where there is generally a fight every now and then to make things entertaining.

"Say, now," said Kinney to Lemp and Hannauer, who were eyeing rather doubtfully the customers of these places, "this is just like home, ain't it?"

When the three finally got back to their hotel, Lemp and Hannauer were all but down and out, but Kinney was still full of life.

"Say, this is great, he said to a Post-Dispatch correspondent. "This air makes me feel like accepting the nomination for President myself. This is the first time I've been to the seashore, but it won't be the last. No more Creve Coeur Lake for me."

"Going in bathing?" he was asked.

"Well, what do you think I came here for? Say, when I get one of your regular seashore sunburns on those ducks out in St. Louis who are going to the reception next week won't know me, will they?

"You want to know what I think about the Bryan reception? Well, it will be a big thing."

Folk a Candidate Still.

"Do you think the enthusiasm for Bryan will die out before 1908?" the Senator was asked.

"Well, I believe Folk is a candidate still."

"Why do you think so?"

"Oh, if the roof has to fall, we don't want it to go any further than the ground.

"But say, who is this? Why, it's old Gov. Stephens."

Kinney had spied former Gov. Lon V. Stephens, who is stopping at the same hotel, coming into the lobby, and rushed over to meet him. The two grasped hands cordially.

"I never expected, Senator, that you would come to water," said Gov. Stephens.

"That's a good one," said Kinney, "and it's on me. Come on, gentlemen," and he led the way where lemonade and other drinks are sold.

BOYS IN GANG OF HABITUAL TILL TAPPERS

HAD WATCH AT CAPTURE

Wilzer Went to Reform School After Stealing $1500 With Others.

GOT $125 FROM ONE TILL

Ran When Storekeeper Saw Them and Then Dropped the Money.

Although neither is over 14 years of age, Willie Wilzer of 1600 South Twelfth street and Dave Weisbrod of 1604 South Sixteenth street, arrested Thursday afternoon by Detectives Byrnes and Danaher while trying to sell a stolen watch to a second-hand dealer at Ninth and Market streets, belong to a gang of professional till tappers. They admitted to Chief of Detectives Desmond they were. Wilzer was released from the Reform School at Boonville a month ago after serving for a series of robberies which netted him and several other boys $1500.

Detectives Byrnes and Danaher entered the store of Joseph Schnerr at Ninth and Market streets Thursday afternoon just in time to see two small boys trying to sell Schnerr a gold watch.

"You'll have to get a note from your mother telling that you can sell this watch before I'll buy it," Schnerr was telling the boys.

The boys left the store, saying they would get the note and return. The detectives followed them. Wilzer and Weisbrod went to the Postoffice and hunted around until they found a piece of writing paper. Then going to one of the large desks, Wilzer wrote:

"Dear Sir: This is my son's watch. He asked me if he could sell it and I said yes. He wants to buy a bicycle.

"MRS. MEATHLEL."

Gave Note to Dealer.

The boys then returned and gave the note to Schnerr. Meathlel was the name engraved inside the watch. Just as Wilzer handed the note to Schnerr the detectives arrested the two boys and took them to police headquarters.

"Where did you get this watch?" asked Chief Desmond.

"Stole it from a jeweler at Eighth and Lafayette," said Wilzer, beginning to cry.

"Why did you steal it?"

"The man wasn't looking and it was just in reach."

"What else did you steal?"

"We stole $125 from the cash box in a vegetable store at 1710 South Broadway Wednesday afternoon, but the man caught us as we were running out, and I dropped the money."

"Did you steal anything else?"

"We got $2.50 from a cigar box in a notion store at Menard street and Ann avenue Thursday morning."

"Were you ever in the Reform School?"

"I just got out a month ago," said Wilzer. "I was sent there two years ago for stealing."

"How much did you steal at that time?"

"Me and some other boys got about $1500 from different places."

"What have you been doing since you got out of the Reform School?"

Made Him Quit Work.

"I was working in an overall factory at Nineteenth and Morgan until Wednesday morning, when my brother and Weisbrod and some other boys came to the factory and threw rocks through the window and made me quit work."

"Wasn't that a scheme just so you'd have an excuse to quit."

Wilzer hesitated a moment and then admitted that the stone throwing was the result of a plot in which he had had a hand.

"My mother wouldn't let me quit and so I got my brother and the other fellows to throw the rocks, so I'd have to quit."

The watch found in possession of Wilzer and Weisbrod was identified by Joseph Pazmany of 1729 South Eighth street.

The boy prisoners were sent to the House of Refuge and will be sent to the Juvenile Court for trial.

An information was issued Friday by Assistant Circuit Attorney Rosskopf charging the boys with grand larceny. The charge grows out of the theft of $125 from the store of Edward Boeschenstein, 1710 South Broadway. Boeschenstein identified the youths Friday as the two who had robbed him. Another information will be issued on the charge of stealing $2 from cash register in the store of Gus A. Weiss, 2123 Menard street, and also one on the charge of stealing the gold watch.

It is said the two boys answer the descriptions of the youths who are known to have robbed the following stores: Shoe store of Fred Ebbert, 1025 North Vandeventer avenue, three pairs of shoes; bakery of John Fitzgerald, 3324 Indiana avenue, $10 from the till, and store of John N. Bauer, 7025 South Broadway, $1 from a desk drawer.

The two boys were positively identified by Miss J. B. Reed, who was in the Bauer store at the time of the robbery and saw them take the money.

The proprietors of the other two places have been requested to call at the station and identify the young thieves.

LONGWORTH INVITED.

President's Son-in-Law Expected to Speak in Missouri.

The Republican State Committee has decided to invite Congressman Longworth, son-in-law of President Roosevelt, to visit Missouri this fall. The letter of invitation was forwarded to Mr. Longworth by Secretary McCoy of the Republican State Committee Friday morning.

"We are going to have every Republican orator of prominence in the nation help the Republicans carry Missouri this fall," said Mr. McCoy. "We have already received assurance that Secretary Root, Secretary Taft, Secretary Shaw, Congressman Grosvenor of Ohio and others equally famed for their oratorical ability will each spend several days with us during the campaign this fall."

St. Louisan Deserter.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 24.—Michel Orss of St. Louis, who enlisted in the United States Navy at Chicago, is a prisoner here on the charge of deserting from the President's yacht Dolphin, on which he was a coal passer. He says he deserted because the yacht was too small for her crew and because shore leave was denied except at rare intervals.

POOR CHILDREN TO GET $40,000

Widow's Family Will Inherit Fortune From Austrian Uncle's Estate.

WAS COLLEGE PROFESSOR

His Devotion to Study of Mathematics Caused Him to Lose His Reason.

A fortune of 200,000 kronen awaits the children of Mrs. Pauline Lustkandl, living in two rooms in the rear of 1519 South Seventh street, as heirs of Wentzel Lustkandl, hofrath professor, in Vienna, Austria.

They are to receive this amount, equal to $40,000, from a relative who never saw them nor their parents in life, but who kept up a correspondence with them until madness brought forgetfulness to him. He died without making a will and his estate of 600,000 kronen is to go to his heirs at law, members of three families, the Lustkandl children to receive one-third.

Rudolph Lustkandl, father of the children, who died in 1904, was born in this country, but his father taught him to have great respect for his uncle in Vienna, who was a mathematician and scientist of reputation. After the death of his father Rudolph Lustkandl kept up the correspondence which had been carried on by his father with his uncle in Vienna and when photographs of his wife and children were sent across the sea the learned and wealthy uncle manifested his interest and goodwill in a substantial way.

After the death of Lustkandl, who was a painter, the correspondence was kept up by Mrs. Lustkandl. A purpose to write to her was one of the last things to which the uncle gave rational expression.

"Tomorrow I must write to America," he said one day in January, but the next day reason fled. His mind gave way under the strain which he had imposed on it all his life by his application to mathematical and scientific problems.

Leaving a restaurant the next day, he forgot to take along a bundle of securities representing thousands of kronen. Messengers of the restaurant proprietor, taking the papers to the modest apartments in which the professor, a bachelor, had lived for years, found him out of his mind. He repudiated the securities and would not accept them. He was induced to go with the messengers to his banker, and there denied all knowledge of his securities. In a short time he was raving mad, and he never regained his reason. He died in June at the age of 75 years.

Mrs. Lustkandl was advised that the estate would be distributed to the heirs and that her children would receive one-third. Under the advice of Attorney Hugo Muench, she is taking the necessary preliminary steps.

As four of the five children are minors she has been appointed executor for them and has given bond. The minor children are Paula, aged 14; William, 12; Dora, 11, and Jacob, 6. The oldest daughter, Josie, is 18.

Although there seems to be no question about the inheritance coming to the children, Mrs. Lustkandl is practical about it and is not encouraging them to build air castles yet. Though life has sometimes been hard for them, since the death of the father and husband, they have been a happy family in their humble, but neat home.

3 LYNCHINGS IN 10 DAYS IS ONE STATE'S RECORD

Negro Who Tried to Enter House, South Carolina's Latest Victim.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 23.—William Spain, a negro, 21 years old, who was strung up to a limb and shot to death for trying to enter a house occupied only by an 11-year-old girl, is the third victim of mob law in South Carolina within 10 days.

S. L. Connor, manager of the Dorchester Lumber Co.'s store at Badham, was notified by a negro that he saw another negro attempt to enter a window of his home and then run away into a nearby cane patch.

Connor immediately started for his home. Going through the cane field, suddenly came upon Spain and grappled with the negro, striking him a severe blow, breaking several bones in his hand. The negro finally freed himself and ran into nearby woods. Connor notified his neighbors, and about two hours later Spain was captured and locked up.

Shortly afterward a posse of 40 or 50 men went to the Sheriff, and, securing the keys to the Jail, took the negro to the house of Connor, where his little daughter positively identified him as the one who had tried to climb through the window. The mob then took the negro to a nearby oak tree, strung him up to a limb and fired about 500 shots into his body.

Miss Monahan Dies in London.

News has been received from London of the death of Miss Emma A. Monahan, a prominent young American business woman of that city. Miss Monahan was a St. Louisan by birth and the daughter of an old resident of St. Louis, the late Patrick Monahan. Burial will be in London Saturday. She is survived by two sisters and one brother.

II==Children's Concert==II

At the Alps, Directed and Explained in Short Talks by

==Nahan Franko==

Next Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock for the benefit of the Post-Dispatch Free Ice and Pure Milk Fund. Children's tickets 10 cents, at Bollman's, at the C. & A. ticket office and at the Post-Dispatch office.

The Program:

1. Overture "Zampa." Herold.

The works of Herold, one of the most popular operatic composers of his time, are but rarely heard on the lyric stage at the present time. Much of the charm and the color of his music has faded. But the overture to "Zampa," a piece of music which, time out of mind, has been sinned against by barrel-organs, orchestrions and other noise-producing contrivances, is still a pleasing and popular piece of music. Indeed, it needs but to be properly played for the listener to detect that this is music far above the average.

2. The Mill in the Forest. Eilenberg.

This little descriptive number will make itself easily understood. Silence and peace are reigning in the woods and only the song of birds and the splash of a little waterfall are heard. Suddenly the mill starts its merry tickling, and its motions are described in the rhythm of the music. Eilenberg is a well-known German composer of popular music.

3. Prize Song, "Die Meistersinger." Wagner.

Violin Solo, Mr. Nahan Franko.

In a competition of singers, in the third act of "Die Meistersinger" Walter Stolzing, the hero of the opera, wins the hand of Eva, by singing the prize song, one of the most suave and beautiful melodies that has come from the pen of Richard Wagner.

4. Suite, Peer Gynt. Grieg.

a. Morning. b. Asa's Death. c. Anitra's Dance.
d. In the Hall of the Mountain King.

This is a musical illustration of Ibsen's dramatic poem by the same name. Of the four numbers the Death of Asa is the most poetic, while the last one, "In the Hall of the Mountain King," is the most effective. The whole work may be reckoned among the best and most popular things that Grieg ever wrote.

5. Vocal Solo.

Wynne Winslow.

6. March from "Tannhauser." Wagner.

The march occurs in the second act of Wagner's opera when the Landgrave and his niece Elizabeth receive their guests who have come to witness the singers' tournament at the Wartburg.

ATTACKED BY MEN, ROBBED OF $350

W. L. Dekle, Tampa Cigar Salesman, Says He Was Beaten With Club.

IS ASSAILED DOWNTOWN

Encountered by Two Thieves Soon After Leaving Pine Street Saloon.

A well-dressed man, about 30 years old, with his clothing disarranged and soiled and wandering aimlessly in a dazed condition at Fourth street and Franklin avenue, was found by Patrolman Armstrong at 6:30 a. m. Friday.

The man told the policeman that his name was W. L. Dekle and that he was a guest at the Madison Hotel. He said that he had been attacked by two men, beaten and robbed of $350.

Patrolman Armstrong took the man to the Central District Station, where he was questioned by Sergt. Drissell. Dekle said he was a cigar drummer, and that he worked for a firm in Tampa, Fla. He had been in St. Louis for several days, he said, and Thursday afternoon he had collected a bill of $400 from Finnigan & Reardon of 709½ Locust street.

He said that late Thursday night he had been in a saloon at Sixth and Pine streets, and had started to the Heidelburg saloon. He was beset by two men, he said, who attacked him with a club and took the $350, he having spent $10 of the $400 he had collected. He bore no serious marks of violence, but was sent to the Dispensary, where several slight scratches were found on him.

Returning to the Four Courts, he was searched and several letters addressed to him at 1615 Locust street were found in his possession. He said that he stopped at that address prior to going to the Madison. The police are investigating the case.

The Way of Them.

From the Philadelphia Ledger.

Mrs. Wise: I see you're advertising for a greenhorn servant girl.

Mrs. Newman: Yes. I thought I'd get one and train her up in the way she should go.

Mrs. Wise: Yes, and when you get her trained she'll go.

Resolved to Live Without Medicine

From a correspondent at Janesville, Wis., comes an interesting account of an experience of Mr. Charles S. Brown, an aged citizen of Lake Mills, a small town near that place.

Mr. Brown has been in ill health for some years in consequence of a severe case of catarrh in the head and stomach. He had doctored for many months without success and a short time ago announced his intention to stop using medicines altogether and live as long as he could without them. This he did, but finding his condition growing steadily worse, became alarmed.

About this time L. T. Cooper and his medicines came into prominence in this portion of the country and Mr. Brown read of the remarkable results they were accomplishing. The balance of the story is best told in his own words, which are quoted in part as follows: "I had suffered from headaches, indigestion, catarrhal deafness and when I heard of the wonderful work that Cooper's medicines were doing for the sick I could not resist trying once more. I made inquiries and found that the preparations could be obtained at a local drug store and purchased a small quantity of them. I had little faith I admit, and you can imagine my surprise and delight when, after using them about one week, I actually found myself getting better. Gradually my condition improved and I gained in strength and flesh. My hearing improved and I noticed that my headaches were less frequent and not so violent. Now, after several weeks' treatment I eat heartily, sleep well and have none of my former symptoms. I feel confident that I can now stick to my resolution to live without taking any more medicine."

The success of these preparations, Cooper's New Discovery and Cooper's Quick Relief, is surprising, and inquiry at Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., where they are sold in St. Louis, brought forth the information that immense quantities of them have been sold here and some remarkable results have been reported.

Henrietta Browne Broke Stage Records By Work as Maude Fealy's Successor

HENRIETTA BROWNE, THIS WEEK'S SUBURBAN STAR.

She Will Open Suburban Season Next Summer—Midweek Amusement Notes.

Henrietta Browne, who has been so successful in filling Maude Fealy's place at the Suburban that the Messrs. Oppenheimer have signed her to open the Suburban season with a two-weeks' engagement next summer, seems to have broken stage records by her good work in the sudden assumption of the title role of "Mistress Nell," in which she was seen last week. She had never seen the play, knew nothing of its stage business, memorized its leading part in less than six hours, and went through with it on the first night without a word of prompting. Stage Manager J. Gordon Edwards of the Suburban company says that he has never heard of a parallel to Miss Browne's achievement in this instance. During the present week she is appearing as Glory Quayle in "The Christian," after which she retires in favor of Maude Fealy, who is now recovered and who will play the title role in "Barbara Frietchie" next week.

Charles Cavanaugh Returns.

Surely the regular theatrical season is about to open in full swing. Charles T. Cavanagh of the Olympic and Centnry returned Wednesday. He has been ahead of Ringling's circus all summer, and he's still ahead of it, because he has gained 13 pounds in weight in addition to the salary paid him for getting stouter. The circus had a prosperous season too, he says, and he "points with pride" to the fact that St. Louis still holds the record for the biggest week's business of the Ringling season. He now opens up the Century's office and takes active charge as before.

Garrick Manager Arrives.

Manager Dan S. Fishell of the Garrick Theater has arrived in St. Louis and now takes charge of the Garrick's affairs, succeeding George W. Floyd. He has been the advance representative of the Barnum & Bailey circus during the summer, but will be remembered as temporary manager of the Garrick during the first few months following its original opening. Mr. Fishell comes direct from New York, where he conferred with the Shuberts concerning the attractions to be offered at the Garrick during the season now about to open.

Looking for St. Louis Opening.

Mrs. Nellie Boyle the manageress of the Boyle dramatic stock company at Nashville, Tenn., was a visitor at West End Heights yesterday with Miss Henrietta Browne of the Suburban company. It is said Mrs. Boyle is looking for a St. Louis opening for one of her companies for next season. She is the only woman manager in dramatic stock, owns a theater at Nashville and several road companies, to which she gives personal supervision.

Midweek Amusement Notes.

"The Strollers" is playing to an enormous business at Delmar Garden the present week. John E. Young as August Lump and Frank Stammers as Kamfer are both excruciatingly funny and some of the scenes between them are side-splitting. Miss Cecelia Rhoda has scored her biggest hit of the season playing the part of the female stroller. The attendance at Delmar has been increasing each succeeding week throughout the season, with few exceptions, and "The Strollers" promises to surpass its predecessors in the matter of receipts.

Next week Richard Harlow will appear at Delmar Garden in "1492," supported by the entire Delmar company. It was during the World's Fair in Chicago that this piece was produced and Harlow made such a hit in the part of Queen Isabella that he has been starred in it ever since. As a female impersonator he is without an equal on the American stage probably any other stage. The Delmar Garden will close on Monday, Labor Day, Sept. 3, two days over the week which begins the Harlow engagement.

Miss Maude Fealy, whose recent illness caused a change of plans at the Suburban, is it is now positively announced, restored to health and resumes her work at the Suburban next Sunday night in Clyde Fitch's romantic melodrama on a patriotic theme, "Barbara Frietchie." Miss Maude Fealy has never before essayed this heroic role. In a certain sense her illness has therefore been of advantage to her; she has had time for extra study during a convalescence which, thanks to a good constitution and the best of medical attendance, set in very early once the danger of an attack of typhoid fever had been thoroughly eliminated. In this closing essay of her St. Louis engagement Miss Fealy will have the best support of the entire Suburban Stock Company, reinforced to the limits of stageroom by a large coterie of specially selected supernumeraries. Scenery and costumes will be entirely new.

Henrietta Browne in "The Christian" is this week's attraction at the Suburban.

Two distinctive programs have been arranged by Director Nahan Franko for Friday and Saturday of this week. The second section of tomorrow night will be a Wagner program, with selections from "Rheingold," "Siegfried" and the transformation from the first act of "Parsifal." The third number in the first concert will be a fantasia of "Hansel and Gretel," the delightful Humperdinck opera, which Mr. Franko conducted here during the visit of the Metropolitan Opera Company. Beethoven's "Egmont" overture and Ziehrer's "Polka Francaise" have not been heard here this summer. Moszkowski's "Bacchanale," from "Laurin," has a prominent place on the program tomorrow. The composer is one of the spriteliest of waltzmakers and in this "Bacchanale" there is, besides rich melody, grace, charm and daintiness. Saturday night's program is mainly made up of popular music. The "Marta" overture, the intermezzo from Delibes' "Naila," the "Faust" fantasie, and, especially "The Blue Danube" are selections in which Director Franko surpasses himself. Another number is a "Slavonic Dance," by Dvorak. This dance is full of crepitant rhythm and interesting melodious expressions in the interpretation of which Nahan Franko is a master. In tonight's program selections from "Mme. Angot" should appeal to lovers of the French opera bouffe music. Wynne Winslow is earning rich applause every night. Her singing is a real feature, even in a featureful Franko program.

Joseph Sheehan will be next week's soloist. He comes direct from London, where he has sung in concert much to the delight of music lovers there.

Miss Ethel Fuller as Zoraya in the "Sorceress" at West End Heights this week is doing her best work. In the third and fourth acts she has full scope to display her emotional ability and holds the audience spellbound with the intensity of her delineation. This is the banner week of the season at West End Heights and capacity audiences are the rule. The "Sorceress" has never before been put on by a stock company and the fact that it is receiving its first English production here makes it doubly attractive as a drawing card. Mr. John Murdock has made a hit as the King's medical adviser very impressive.

The Royal Hawaiian Band, led by Capt. H. Berger, at Forest Park Highlands, is one of the best bands ever heard in this city and the novelty of seeing a band resolve itself into an orchestra and choir, with many sweet-voiced solo singers, and then become a glee club, with guitar and mandolin and other stringed instruments, is indeed a distinct novelty. Col. Hopkins announces that the Royal Hawaiian Band and Glee Club will remain at the Highlands for four weeks, an indication that it has caught the fancy of the public and is a big drawing card for the "big, cool place on the hill."

The vaudeville bill next week will include the Okabo family of Japanese artists, eight in number, in a great specialty, introducing their clever acrobatic and posturing stunts. The next most important feature will be Miss Maude Rockwell, "the California nightingale," an operatic soprano. Miss Rockwell is endowed with a high, clear soprano voice of great range, flexibility and volume. The rest of the bill includes the La Toy Brothers, acrobatic comedians; John A. West, in an act entitled "The Musical Brownie;" Rader Brothers and their Little Sunbeams, comedy vocalists and change artists, and the Kinodrome, with a lot of new pictures.

"Arizona" was first produced in Chicago, where it made a hit. Then came its success in New York. Later it toured the country triumphantly. Chicago seems now no less appreciative of "Arizona" than prior to its New York triumph, if the recent engagement at the Chicago Auditorium may be taken as a criterion. "Arizona" will be seen at the Grand next week, commencing with Sunday matinee.

The dramatization of the famous novel, "Thorns and Orange Blossoms," has lost none of its interest in stage form. The characters are well represented and in point of scene and effects the stage pictures leave nothing to be wished for. In "Thorns and Orange Blossoms" it is promised that the clientele of the Imperial Theater will find a strong play. There is an abundance of heart interest in the plot, and there is a marked absence of lurid melodramatic features. It is well staged and well acted by a special Rowland and Clifford company, with Miss Edna Earlie Lindon in the leading part. "Thorns and Orange Blossoms" comes to the Imperial Theater, Sunday matinee, following "A Wife's Secret," which is the offering this week.

The Columbia program for next week will include Adelaide Hermann and company, De Haven and Parker, Lee Harrison, Frank Rae, Gussie Bracche, Fred Eckhoff and Anna Gordon, Caprice, Lynn and Fey, Belle Gordon and other attractions. This week's bill includes Bert Leslie and company, in the slang classic, "Hogan's Visit;" the Rialto Comedy Four, Aurie Dagwell an dother able artists.

"How Hearts Are Broken," which will be the offering at Havlin's Theater next Sunday matinee and week, with the usual Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday matinees, is said to be a most interesting melodrama, and to be free from many features that usually grind on the nerves of those who appreciate a play of the better class. The story of the play is spoken of as a literary effort of no mean ability and is woven around a young girl cast adrift by her lawful husband, who inveigled her into a secret marriage, and, with the aid of his scheming confederates, has been successful in having her imprisoned for the murder of her child, which has been kidnaped by the unnatural father and husband. The story continues giving a most interesting account of the unfortunate wife and mother and does not end until the guilty have been punished and the heroine finds peace and contentment with the man she loves.

"Old Isaacs from the Bowery," the current attraction at Havlin's Theater, seems to have struck the popular fancy, and since the opening matinee the performances have been well attended.

William H. Windom, the famous tenor who was first to sing "After the Ball," and who is the author of many successful songs, will present his latest creation, "Pipes Colored Nursegirl," as one of the offerings at Mannion's Park next week. The Four Sullys, in a bright sketch, "An Interrupted Honeymoon;" the Graces, in a novelty presentation; the great Richards, in a new act and the Lipplincotts, in a singing and dancing specialty, are others on the program.

Barton's Big Gayety Extravaganza company will open the Gayety Theater season Saturday, beginning a week's engagement. "Two Married Bachelors" is the opening farce. Charles Barton heads the bill, and bright vaudeville features are promised.

The Twentieth Century Maids will be next week's attraction at the Standard, beginning with Sunday matinee. The bill comprises two burlesques, "The Maids' Reception" and "The Ups and Downs of the Beef Trust," and includes among its funmakers Joe Watson, the Hebrew impersonator; Morton and Diamond, Irish comedians; Toma Hanlon, Cornalia and Eddie and Billy Noble.

Next week's bill at West End Heights will consist of an elaborate production of "Leah, the Forsaken," by the Ethel Fuller Stock Company. All of the principals have had previous experience in their allotted roles and an extraordinarily good portrayal is promised.

At Eclipse Garden the offering this week is the emotional play, "The Mansion of Aching Hearts." Next week, beginning Monday night, the Stanley Stock Company will produce "The Deserted Bride."

TWO OPEN LETTERS

Important to Married Women

Mrs. Mary Dimmick of Washington tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Well.

It is with great pleasure we publish the following letters, as they convincingly prove the claim we have so many times made in our columns that

Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., is fully qualified to give helpful advice to sick women. Read Mrs. Dimmick's letters.

Her first letter:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I have been a sufferer for the past eight years with a trouble which first originated from recurring pains—the pains were excruciating, with inflammation and ulceration. The doctor says I must have an operation or I cannot live. I do not want to submit to an operation if I can possibly avoid it. Please help me."—Mrs. Mary Dimmick, Washington, D. C.

Her second letter:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"You will remember my condition when I last wrote you, and that the doctor said I must have an operation or I could not live. I received your kind letter and followed your advice very carefully and am now entirely well. As my case was so serious it seems a miracle that I am cured. I know that I owe not only my health but my life to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and to your advice. I can walk miles without a pain, and I wish every suffering woman would read this letter and realize what you can do for them."—Mrs. Mary Dimmick, 69th and East Capitol Streets, Washington, D. C.

How easy it was for Mrs. Dimmick to write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., and how little it cost her—a two-cent stamp. Yet how valuable was the reply! As Mrs. Dimmick says—it saved her life.

Mrs. Pinkham has on file thousands of just such letters as the above, and offers ailing women helpful advice.

GIRL PRISONER JUMPS FROM HOTEL WINDOW

Waitress, Fatally Injured, Says Chicago Broker Enticed Her.

POLICE SPREAD DRAGNET

Accused by Dying Girl, Alleged Married Man Escapes Crowd.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—To save herself from the clutches of a man said to be a wealthy La Salle street broker, who, she alleges, had enticed her into a room in a notorious Adams street hotel, Miss Josephine Olson, a waitress, leaped from a bathroom window of a room into a light shaft and fell 30 feet.

She struck on a radiator and received injuries which, the police declare, will prove fatal.

In the excitement the man was allowed to escape from the hotel, which is one of several operated in the downtown district by one firm.

Miss Olson lives at 1602 Indiana avenue. Four hours after she made her desperate attempt to escape from her rich escort the police were notified.

A dragnet was thrown out and detectives working on the case say the broker whose name is known will be under arrest in a few hours.

Descriptions of the man have been sent to all police stations. Chief Collins is directing the hunt for him.

He is described as being 5 feet 8 inches in height, about 40 years old and weighing 175 pounds. He was well dressed and wore a dark suit. His hair is black, tinged with gray. He wears a Van Dyke beard. He is said to have a wife and family.

Wife Is Society Woman.

His wife is said to be a prominent member of Chicago society.

Miss Olson is employed at the restaurant of Burton F. White, Adams and Clark streets, where the broker met her under the name of Smith.

In many respects her desperate leap to save herself resembles that of a young woman, a resident of the Y. W. C. A. home, who died after a leap from a window in the old Newport Hotel a year or two ago.

The Newport, which stood on the site of the Majestic Theater, was also run by Karg & Horter.

The "hotel" management is scored by the police for failure to report the case to the police until four hours after it occurred, thus giving the broker opportunity to flee and hide himself.

Because of his dressy appearance and half-intoxicated condition, however, the police feel confident he can easily be traced. Cabmen, who might have driven him in his flight from the resort, are being sought.

Miss Olson's plunge from the third-story window followed a wild ride on the South Side boulevards with the broker, it is alleged, during which stops were made at various resorts. The couple returned to the Brunswick "Hotel" for the second time and the tragic leap of the girl followed.

According to the story learned by the police the broker has paid considerable attention to Miss Olson in the restaurant on Clark street, where she worked and which he patronized.

TROLLEY TAXES HURRIED.

United Railways Co. Will Pay on First Day.

The United Railways Co. will pay its $366,371.19 taxes Sept. 1, and by so doing will save $6420.21. The rebate was calculated Thursday by Clerk Jacob Bretscher of Collector Hagerman's office at the request of the company.

A number of other heavy tax payers are sending inquiries as to what their taxes will be if paid on the first day on which they are payable—Sept. 1. Collector Hagerman allows a rebate at the rate of 8 per cent a year on the city portion of all tax bills paid before Dec. 31, the date of their maturity.

The rebate is allowed only on the city portion of the bill, the State allowing no rebate.

Most of the real estate owners and most of the banks and trust companies pay their bills at the earliest possible moment to get the rebate, indicating that they cannot earn the percentage the city allows them by using their money in other ways.

The tax rate is 9 cents lower on each $100 of assessed valuation this year. The reduction is in the city's bill. The total rate last year was $2.19 per $100. This year it is $2.10.

DAY'S DELAY FOR KIELY.

Case to Be Laid Over Day Bryan Is Here.

The expected arrival of William Jennings Bryan in St. Louis Sept. 11 has caused the Board of Police Commissioners to decide to continue the trial of suspended Chief Kiely from that date to the following day, in order that members of the board and witnesses in the case may attend the reception to Mr. Bryan.

Theodoric R. Bland, vice-president of the board, announced the intended continuance. Kiely's attorneys are out of the city, but Mr. Bland said the trial would be continued over their objection, should objection be made. It is announced that there will be no more delay, and that the entire board will hear the trial Sept. 12.

WRITING BETRAYS BOYS.

Prisoners Aged 13 and 14 Admit Two Thefts.

William Wilzer, 14 years old, of 1600 South Twelfth street and William Weisbrod, 13, of 1664 South Fourteenth street, are held by the police charged with having stolen a watch from a jewelry store conducted by Joseph Pazmany at 1729 South Eighth street. The boys admit taking the watch and also confess t oseveral ther thefts committed recently.

After taking the watch from the jewelry store, Thursday, the boys took it to a second-hand store conducted by Joseph Schnerr at Ninth and Market streets. With it they presented a note, which they said was written by their mother, authorizing them to sell the watch and to buy a bicycle. Schnerr thought the handwriting looked boyish, and notified the police. When taken to the station, they admitted that the watch was stolen and the note written by William Wilzer.

They admitted robbing a grocery store at Ann avenue and Armand street a short time before they took the watch. They got $2.25 at the grocery. Wednesday, they said, they stole $125 from the cash drawer in a store conducted by Edward Boeschenstein at 1710 South Broad way. They ran from the store with the money, they said, and dropped it when the proprietor pursued them.

"First in Everything."

All the Georgia Smiths must have voted for Hoke.

Let us hope the marriage of so many teachers of the city schools means merely an increased attendance.

Now that the brain of one crazy editor has been successfully operated upon, might not some others be helped?

SLANDERING WOMEN.

The so-called "platform without apology" in favor of lynching, which has been sent out from Springfield in the name of the women of that city, is evidently the work of some Springfield male who has been around the courts long enough to learn bad English without learning law.

"We believe," he says, "that the way to preclude mob law is to obliterate the cause." Certainly no woman in Springfield would write English of this kind. It is like the rest of the "platform without apology" in being the bad English of a poor lawyer.

That might seem trivial, however, if it were not part of the most cowardly thing the male of the human species ever does. That is to bring women to the front to hide behind when he cannot hide at all otherwise. If what he has done, or proposes to do, is inexcusable otherwise, the male who drops down to this level, says he was obliged, or that he will be obliged, to do it because women insist on it. Of all that was worst in the Old Adam this was the climax. As it did not avail in his case, it will not in Springfield.

When men gather in mobs and show mob insanity, it is not because they feel obliged to please women. It was not so in Springfield. The women of that town are not guilty of the acts of the mob, nor are its right-minded citizens. The mob was the mob, not the community, male or female. It is mob cowardice to try to make it appear that the women of the city demand mob cruelty.

In 1901 there were 1833 deaths of children less than one year old in St. Louis. The number rose to 1914 in 1903 and fell to 1815 in 1904, while in 1905 there were but 1633 babies sacrificed. As compared with 1901 the record of 1905 shows a decrease of just 200, but it must be borne in mind that the population of the city increased remarkably in that period and the saving is therefore much greater. The total deaths of all ages increased nearly 1500 in that period. The reason for the decline of infant mortality is obviously to be found in the work of the Pure Milk Commission, which began to be effective in 1905. The record for 1906 will show a greater saving of infant lives, for the work has been enlarged through the increase in the Post-Dispatch Free Ice and Pure Milk Fund. If ample supplies of money were available the loss of babies might be reduced to the minimum, or about 30 per cent of the 1901 total. Science has demonstrated that this may be accomplished.

MRS. BOURLAND'S GOOD TEACHING.

The fact that woman would exert a healthful influence by active participation in politics is indicated anew when Mrs. Clara Bourland of Peoria, Ill., declines to make the race for trustee of the University of Illinois after having been nominated by the Democrats because Gov. Deneen had appointed her a member of the State Board of Charities.

Who ever heard of the average male politician refusing political preferment because of any high-falutin ideas of loyalty already pledged? It is contrary to all the man-made rules of the game—the cardinal principle of which is "Look out for Number One." On stepping-stones of their—politically—dead friends, knifed not infrequently by them, the ordinary run of politicians rise to better things, materially speaking. Cut themselves off from personal political profit merely by reason of the fact that they had made certain other promises in a different field? The whole fabric of masculine politics trembles almost to its fall at the thought!

Nevertheless, Mrs. Clara Bourland, standing manfully—no, womanfully—to her word, is a pleasing figure to contemplate. The fact that she is also a unique figure isn't her fault. It is the misfortune of a people which too stubbornly insists that woman has no rightful business in politics.

If an honest man, who refuses to take more salary than he earns, creates so much astonishment in Belleville, how he would amaze larger communities!

OFFICIAL WEATHER PROPHETS.

Beginning Sunday the weather prophets who speak officially, every day promised "cooler tomorrow."

There was no perceptible fall of the mercury, but the prophets were not discouraged. They know cooler weather will come on some tomorrow, so why not take time by the forelock and get a good start? "Do not put off till tomorrow what you can do today." "Do it now." There is a change in temperature to be looked for some time. So predict it now and keep at it until your foresight is vindicated.

These official seers are doing the best they can and perhaps they ought not to be criticised. But at least the fact can be noted that they so often see what is not there, that they cannot claim the authority of the "sure thing."

When you see, in the dispatches, that the temperature in the Northwest has fallen 40 or 50 degrees, you may look for considerable change in Missouri within the next 48 hours. This is the only forecasting that is really trustworthy, and every man can become his own prophet. As for the official promises, they are better than Jernigan's promises to find gold in sea water because they are honest and well meant. But for no other reason.

There is reason in Chief Gillaspy's remark that the police ought not to be expected to make out complaints against Police Court offenders in strictly legal form because they are not lawyers. It does seem that the Prosecuting Attorney should at least supervise the complaint and acquaint himself sufficiently with the evidence to determine whether the complaint and the evidence agree before the case goes to trial. The throwing out of cases because the complaint is not drawn up in proper form or does not properly describe the offense, indicates that something is wrong with the methods of prosecution. No energy in the enforcing of the law should be wasted by careless mistakes of this kind. The Prosecuting Attorney should work with and advise the police.

THE "CRIMINAL RICH."

In an editorial leader republished in the Post-Dispatch the New York Sun urged that the "criminal rich * * * men of known flagitious lives and evil reputations" be boycotted socially. Cut them on the street, out of social functions and avoid them at clubs, says the Sun.

But the social boycott is a dangerous weapon and one that is extremely difficult to wield effectively and without injustice. Clear, accurate information and concerted action against powerful counter influences are necessary to its just and effective use. No man ought to be condemned without definite proof. The best proof of criminality—the only certain proof—is conviction upon sufficient evidence submitted in court."

To insure the justice of the social boycott the criminal rich should be branded with the brand of the criminal poor, the proper brand of all criminality—close-clipped hair and striped clothes. Society would make no mistake in boycotting wealthy persons with short hair and striped suits—even if the stripes were fashionable and the hair cut by a tonsorial artist.

Combined with forced retirement from the social function, the church vestry and the club by involuntary retreat to the barred seclusion of a prison, the social boycott would be a most effective method of relieving society of the pest of the criminal rich. When social punishments must be devised for criminals immune from the law, there is something radically wrong with the courts. Let us correct the courts.

Assassination has come into the dry-wet war in Kansas. It isn't a good thing to add to other thirsts the thirst for blood.

PERSONAL AND OFFICIAL KNOWLEDGE.

Street Commissioner Valliant has found out (officially) through complaints addressed to his office that the United Railways Co. is slow about repairing the pavement between tracks after reconstruction work.

Had Commissioner Valliant inquired of Mr. Valliant he would have found out this notorious fact several months ago. The railway company finishes up the work on their rails so that cars can be run and then promises to fix up the pavement "in a short time."

The work should be continuous until the street is in good condition. It is a pity that it takes so long to convert personal knowledge possessed by everybody into official knowledge available for use in the municipal departments. But we are glad Street Commissioner Valliant has official knowledge of the street railway delinquency and commend his effort to put it to use.

Mr. Beveridge's anti-trust speech should have been made several presidential terms since if he means it.

PROBLEMS FOR MEDICAL SCIENCE.

Modern surgical skill has performed so many wonders that it is not absurd to cherish the hope that it may, in time, banish deformity and greatly diminish the number of the insane. Cases of surgical removal of causes of insanity are frequent.

But the outlook in medical science is not so encouraging. With the exception of the discovery of new anesthetics, the progress in medical knowledge has not been great. The most terrible diseases, such as plague, cholera, yellow fever and leprosy have not been robbed of their mystery and power. The discovery that a certain mosquito causes the spread of yellow fever can hardly be classed as a medical discovery. The biologists are almost united in the belief that cancer is nothing more than abnormal cell growth, but up to this date no one has found a remedy for such abnormal growth.

That this limitation in medical knowledge offers a tempting field to the investigator is shown in an absorbingly interesting article in the coming Sunday Post-Dispatch. The discovery of a true remedy for one of the dreaded diseases will not only bring undying fame, but a vast fortune to the man or woman who makes it. The very wealthy are not exempt from such diseases, and are ready to sacrifice millions for a cure. In the case described, neither education, intellect nor great wealth have been able to bring relief. It is a discouraging example of man's helplessness. But perhaps this case may be the turning point. Will not the wand of gold open a door to this secret of nature?

BEGGING THE QUESTION.

From the St. Louis Mirror.

The North American Securities Co. needs a better head finger of affairs here. It Begs the question it presents as a combination monopoly of public utilities, and invites always such a complete and convincing dressing up or dressing down as was given it by the Post-Dispatch last week. The company is an enormous, swollen, over-capitalization upon which the citizens have to pay. The facts and figures are plain to see. The company needs drastic disciplining at the hands of the representatives of the people.

DE PROFUNDIS.

In Colorado's mountains
The days are nice and cool,
And in the hillside fountains
Are game fish as a rule—
The speckled trout we read about
But failed of our intent
To go and try with temping fly;
Cause why—the price of rent.

In Huron's living waters
The summer bather floats,
And maidens brown and fair go down
Unto the sea in boats—
The golden strand where we had planned
An outing to suffice
Our need of rest now dispossessed,
Cause why—the price of ice.

At Uncle Hiram's farm place
The summer fruits are red,
And on the plate are slices great
Of Auntie's famous bread—
The quiet place where peace and grace
Await the harried soul
If one might go a while, but no!
Cause why—the winter coal.

WIRELESS NOTES FROM MOSE.

ABOARD-SHIP, August 24.

We are moseying in mid-ocean.

The steerage wants Upton Sinclair for President, but I have succeeded thus far in keeping it from Mr. Bryan.

"Do you suppose we have a Jonah aboard, in case a storm arose?" asked a timid lady at breakfast this morning.

The passengers all smiled and looked at Mr. Bryan.

I noticed that one of the passengers leaned over and whispered to the lady, whereupon she regarded Mr. Bryan shyly and blushed furiously.

I had a pleasant experience this morning, but the more I think it over the more suspicious I become. I was up on the bridge while the captain was lunching, and a porter came up, tipping his hat.

"Good morning, Mr. Bryan," he said.

Without thinking, I gave him a dollar, but since then I have seen him, with others of the porters, pointing at Mr. Bryan and acting in a manner indicating that he is well-known to them.

We passed a man-of-war during the forenoon. I couldn't make her out, but I think she belongs to the Swiss navy. She was about five miles away and pretty heavily loaded.

Mr. Bryan and I spend a great deal of time together, and I know his New York speech as well as he does by this time. I have worked a couple of ideas of my own into it, including my hobby—trust busting. Mr. Bryan is in splendid voice. While he was rehearsing yesterday he hailed a ship some three miles distant, though he had no intention of doing so, and apologized profusely.

"Mose," said Mr. Bryan this morning, in a burst of confidence, "if I should fall overboard, would you leap in after me?"

"Mr. Bryan," I said, in a tone to reproach him, "have you ever gone where I did not follow?"

"No, Mose," he said, and immediately turned and went into the bar.

ON THE FIRING LINE IN CUBA

Grapevine News to the Post-Dispatch

By Clark McAdams.

HAVANA, Aug. 24.—It has just been mutually agreed that there will be no fighting Sunday.

SAN JUAN DE MARTINEZ, Aug. 24.—Gen. Pino Guerra, who took this place yesterday, retired in good order last night, instead of celebrating his victory in the usual way.

SANTIAGO, Aug. 24.—The revolutionary army upon this side of the island spent last night here. A curious crowd hung around the hotel all evening, anxious to get a look at him.

PINAR DEL RIO, Aug. 24.—Gen. Vincente addressed the revolutionary party in the plaza here last night. Concerning intervention by the United States, the General said: "Patriots, the Platt amendment vouchsafes us the pursuit of happiness. Inasmuch as we are only happy when we are fighting, the United States cannot intervene without violating the treaty."

MANTANZAS, Aug. 24.—The report that the revolutionary army at this point had abandoned its arms and taken to its legs is a mistake. The boys are still in the field, and they will fight until school opens.

HAVANA, Aug. 24.—The revolution seems under control. The ice cure is doing better work than the guns. The Government ice wagons are scouring the island, and it is found that the most rabid revolutionist, once he has ice held on his temples, is easily reconciled to Palma. This confirms the theory of Prof. Luis Potosi of the Havana Academy of Science, who early diagnosed the revolution as a hot-weather disaffection in no wise uncomplimentary to the Palma Government.

LEYTE, Aug. 24.—There was a hard fight north of here yesterday between Government and revolutionary troops. The Government troops killed one man in the forenoon, but, in spite of desperate efforts to maintain the lead, the revolutionists succeeded also in killing a man in the afternoon, tieing the score and rendering the whole fight futile.

HUMOR FROM ITALY

"Hey, there, it is forbidden to walk on the railway tracks."

"Do not be afraid, my good man; we have come here to escape the automobiles."—Il Mondo Umoristico.

Hotel Proprietor (to guest at breakfast): Did you enjoy the flute playing in the room next to you last night?

Guest (savagely): Enjoy it? I should think not. I spent half the night pounding on the wall for the fool to stop.

Proprietor: Why, Puffer told me that he played every piece he knew four times, and the person in the next room applauded after every one!—Il Mondo Umoristico.

"Carlo, you do not love me any more?"

"My treasure, why do you say such a foolish thing?"

"Because it is impossible for you to love a woman who has worn a dress as long as I have this one!"—Il Motto per Ridere.

A servant, not distinguished for his intelligence, went to the Postoffice and was given a letter for his mistress. On arriving at the door he saw that he had lost it, so ran back and explained what had happened to the clerk.

"But what can I do?" said the clerk.

"Why," said the servant, "you have so many there you might give me another."—Il Motto per Ridere.

"The suppression of the automobile would be a great damage to trade."

"Do you sell benzine?"

"Oh, no, wooden legs."—Il Mondo Umoristico.

In a shop on the Corso there is a card with the following words in the window: "Here all the languages are spoken." A Russian entered and spoke a few words in Russian, and finding that he was not understood tried German, then French and English, always with the same result. Finally he said in broken Italian: "But who speaks the foreign languages in this shop?" "Oh," replied the clerk, "the strangers who come in to buy."—Il Diavolo Rosa.

Cruelty to Children.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

We have heard a good deal about dogs and the abuse of them, but no one seems to take notice when a child is abused. Take, for example, the case on Magnolia avenue. I know of mothers who profess to love their children, and do love them, between their (mothers') fits of temper, that whip babies as young as six months old. I personally know one young mother that whips her baby of nine months a half dozen times, more or less, a day. That is barbarous. Control your temper and cultivate patience and you will be happier and the children won't be spoiled. HUMANITY.

A Word to "Half a Lawyer."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I, for one, have prayed for God to raise up some man or woman somewhere in this country to advocate the justice of the American negro along the lines of lynching.

We negroes were once happy on the dark continent of Africa and perfectly safe from mob law and violence, but we were brought to this country much against our own will and kept in the cruel chain of slavery for more than 400 years.

God, in His mysterious moving, got into the heart of Abraham Lincoln as in "Half a Lawyer's" heart and freed the negro. America, with all her high schools, seminaries, colleges and churches, owes much to the negro. "Half a Lawyer," may your highest peace be low at Jesus' feet are my hearty wishes. 616 BEAUMONT ST.

Gambling on Steamboats.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Last Sunday I took a ride on a boat that went down the river a great way and I saw men not only bunced out of their money, but out of their studs.

After watching the game, which was something on the order of a wheel of fortune, for some time, I caught on to their game. I counted no less than ten assistants to the man that took the money from the people. They would act the part of excursionists and come up and play, sometimes as many as five at a time, and they always won heavily when playing alone, but when a victim would come in on the game they would all lose.

I stooped to the floor under the pretense of picking up a match and was immediately told that if I did it again I would be thrown overboard.

One man that I saw come on the boat with a wife and baby and later on I saw fleeced out of $102, all in a hunk. I afterwards was talking to him and he told me had brought the money from home for safe-keeping.

I saw another man lose $30 and another $9, while there were innumerable losses of from 25 cents to $5. One very good-looking boy of about 16 I saw fleeced out of his diamond stud, which he told me was worth $18.

Every now and then the man would change to some other game, and when the boat was nearing St. Louis he packed a valise solid with bills and silver and walked up to his cabin on the deck. O. K.

A Man of Destiny.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

There is a significance in the action of the Democracy of Illinois as expressed in the vote on the Sullivan resolution that the party at large cannot overlook.

The deliberate action of the Democracy of Illinois in convention assembled serves unmistakable notice on the Democratic party that W. J. Bryan cannot again carry the State of Illinois. And of all the reasons for again nominating Mr. Bryan for President the best of them is the claim that he can carry this great Commonwealth. But yesterday his leaders, high of hope and full of confidence, went into convention to do his bidding, and upon a fair, square test of strength Mr. Bryan was turned down by a vote of 2 to 1. This tells the whole story, a strange and surprising story it is too, The Democracy of the country was not prepared for such a result. It comes with a paralyzing effect at this particular time.

This turn in the Democracy of Illinois must send the stock of Gov. Folk soaring skyward again as the man of destiny. DEMOCRAT.

J. R.—There is no record of invention of tents and awnings. The first tents were made of foliage or skins. Adam probably had one. As for awnings, they might have been suggested to any antediluvian.

J. F.—We cannot say as to whether you could get damages from a company in whose service you were ruptured. Only a thorough presentation of all the facts in the case before a court could determine that. You might get a lawyer's opinion.

M. G.—Hair parasites: Saturate head and hair with coal oil for three or four hours; wash thoroughly in warm water with good soap. When dry wash again in good, strong vinegar, drying without using towel. Next, wash again with soap and water.

R. G. S.—Seining is allowed in Mississippi and Missouri rivers, but not within 300 yards from the mouths of tributary) between July 1 and April 1. Meshes must not be less than two inches square. Small seine allowed for minnows for bait.

READER.—To become a good plumber you should serve four or five years in a shop. You should then, if you have improved your time, be admitted to the union. A few months' schooling would hardly admit you, as you would have to pass an examination.

Tact and kindness should be used in every home. Neither "boss" nor seem to think that you are "bossed."

L. M.—The widow whose alien husband has declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States is considered a citizen. Mix in stone jar, sprinkle salt between them sparingly. After 24 hours drain off all brine and put in preserving kettle over fire, sprinkling through them 1 ounce turmeric, 6 red peppers, chopped coarsely, 4 tablespoonfuls mustard, 2 of celery seed, 3 of whole allspice, 2 of whole cloves, coffee cup of sugar and two-thirds of a cup of best ground mixed mustard. Cover well with best cider vinegar. Cover tightly and simmer well until cooked tender. Watch and stir often. Seal hot in glasses.

F. G.—Turtle soup: Cut turtle into small pieces, and put into pot with cold water to cover. Bring to boil and skim. Add to turtle meat one lemon sliced with all the seeds removed, one potato and one onion sliced, one can of tomatoes and some bay leaf, parsley and pepper chopped fine. Simmer three hours, adding as much water as is necessary. A little soup meat or bones may also be added, if desired. When ready to serve thicken with three tablespoonfuls flour browned in a little butter, and a half glass sherry. Have in the tureen a hard boiled egg chopped fine, thin slices of lemon and chopped parsley. Season the soup with more salt and pepper, if necessary, then strain into the tureen. Worcestershire sauce may be used in place of the wine for seasoning, if preferred. A variation in turtle soup is made by first browning the pieces of turtle in four tablespoonfuls hot lard. Simmer in the fat for a little, then add four onions, four cloves of garlic, parsley, thyme and pepper chopped fine. Fry a few moments, then add a can of tomatoes, a good-sized soup bone with a little meat and two parts water. Simmer as any ordinary soup until meat and vegetables are tender. When ready to serve, thicken lightly with brown flour, add one lemon cut in slices, [illegible] and a half glass sherry. If not a rich [illegible] color with caramel.

The Cheapest Doctor.

The late Bret Harte was a very lovable man to those who really knew him, yet sometimes he could be very bitter. Once when he was consul at Glasgow he attended a big city dinner. The Scotsman who sat next to him had a reputation for nearness. And he hadn't been very well lately.

The Scotsman said: "Can you recommend a good physician?"

"I can if you want him to attend to yourself."

"Yes?"

"Death!"

"Why death?"

"Because he will only cost you one visit."

How He Managed Her.

From the Youth's Companion.

One day, during a hard, Northern Michigan winter, a merchant was approached by a decidedly undersized, shriveled and elderly Frenchman, who asked for credit. The first move which the cautious merchant made was to ask the man's name.

"Touchette," was the answer.

"Jules Touchette?"

"Oui, monsieur, Jules Touchette."

"Well, Jules," said the candid shopkeeper, "I've heard of you, but I haven't heard anything very good. They say that you're cruel to your wife—that you ill-treat her."

"You evaire see ma femme?" queried Jules, with a sudden twinkle in his black eye. "Non? Vell, monsieur, she veigh pret' near t'ree honder pound. So beeg, beeg voman you nevaire behold on your life.

This is confirmation time in the Roman Catholic Church, and enterprising boys and girls are looking for godparents. One smart youngster in Bohemia boldly wrote to the Kaiser, asking him to be his godfather, and was both surprised and delighted to learn that his petition was granted. Of course, the Emperor will not go himself, but a local Government official will represent him.

In a small place near Vienna a dozen boys and girls selected a wealthy inhabitant as prospective godfather, hoping that he would give them each a handsome present, as is the custom here.

The rich man consented, but warned each youngster that his present would consist only of a prayer book and a small picture. The youngsters were considerably taken aback at this, and when the day came for the ceremony only three of them claimed him as godfather. They duly received their promised prayer books, and, looking inside for the picture, found a new 100 kronen note ($20).

DR. PARKHURST ON CHRISTIAN SOCIALISM

REV. DR. PARKHURST IN MUNSEY'S MAGAZINE.

ALL human ownership begins in a grab in assuming that to be ours which is not ours, and continues as long as we can maintain the assumption successfullly. And what is to be understood by the clearness of proprietary title varies approximately with the number of hands through which the property has methodically passed since the original grab was committed. For example, we should never ourselves have gone out into the Pacific Ocean and seized the Philippine Islands. The Spanish had done so, and we paid them $20,000,000 for the spoils and think our title fairly clear—not too clear, but fairly clear, because one tenure intervenes between the original grab of the islands and our possession of them. When one pays for stolen goods there is experienced a degree of restfulness that is not quite possible when one steals them one's self.

Where considerations of fraternity do not obtain a man's tenure of property will be conditioned by the strength of his neighbor. Where considerations of fraternity do obtain a man's tenure of property will be conditioned by the necessities of his brother. In one case he will retain his belongings till a stronger takes them; in the other he will retain his holdings till a weaker needs them. In ordinary domestic relations two men are only then brothers in the personal import of the term when there is a sense of mutual membership, and a sense so pronounced as to create for the less favored member of the coalition a valid claim upon the belongings of the other; so that if the more affluent comes to his brother's relief the conferment is not to be reckoned as an act of grace as a discharge of debt.

So deeply rooted is this sentiment in the general heart of the world that, under ordinary circumstances, a man amply supplied with material comforts who should let his brother suffer would be regarded as having defrauded his brother—an act of fraud not to be taken cognizance of by the civil courts, of course, but recognized as fraud before the tribunal of the general conscience. • • •

Ownership, then, when interpreted by the standards of Christian socialism, is pretty closely the equivalent of trusteeship. It means tenure in the interests of the family, rather than tenure in the exclusive interests of the indivdual holder.

This, then, is what we understand by Christian socialism. It is not communism; it is not the negation of wealth. It is not the denial of individualism, but it is the insistence upon individualism considered as means to a wholesome collectivism. It is a form of "trust," differing in this respect from institutions more generally known to us under that name, that while the latter appear to exist for the purpose of drawing the public blood this has for its distinct aim to deepen the flow of that blood and to oxygenate it. • • •

Christian socialism is no enemy to millionaires, provided the millions in their tenure are viewed by them as funds that are to be bestowed or withheld.

All battered and lamed and shattered and maimed the mail ship crawls into port,
And the belted tire and the volted wire are the toys of the whirlwind's sport;
And the gray sea's teeth in the depths beneath where the coiled, green serpents play,
Are crumbling, crunching, mumbling, munching at the cable lengths alway—
But now they may howl, the storms, and growl, at the work of the lineman's hands,
But gone is their pride with the boast of the tide that bit at the deep-sea strands.

For a sentence thrills through the bastioned hills that has neither voice nor form,
Nor recks of the might of the Chaos-sprite that lashes the earth with his storm.
Bitted and bridled and shackled and girdled and bound with a linkless chain,
The brute powers cower at the godlike power that dwells in human brain;
Man has stolen the wings of the deathless things that range where the spirit is lord,
He is leagued anew with the silence through the strands of the strandless cord.

DO MEN PREFER BEAUTY OR BRAINS IN WOMEN?

Helen Oldfield in the Chicago Tribune.

STUDENTS of human nature, as between man and woman, find it an incontrovertible fact that the great majority of men infinitely prefer beauty to brains in a woman. Not even clever men, as a rule, care especially for women whom they consider intellectual. It is the women who are pretty and bright, in the sense of gayety, who ensnare the hearts of men, even grave and reverend seigneurs, who in most cases love them all the better because of the frivolity which is such a contrast to their own gravity.

The really strong man, of strong body, strong will and strong intellect, objects rather than otherwise to any display of similar strength upon the part of a woman. He does not demand brains in his sweetheart. He is himself the illuminant, and asks only that the woman of his choice shall shine with reflected glory, rarely realizing the truth that a a satisfactory reflector must not be dull. Nor does he perceive the need of brains until some day his wife comes short for lack of them.

He likes a bright woman who entertains him, who amuses him and makes him laugh, but he will brook no assumption of superiority upon her part. "Woman is the weaker vessel," and his preference is for the clinging, dependent sort whose inferiority serves as a background for his own wisdom and strength. Man is a creature of slow growth. "Heir of all the ages," with deeply-rooted prejudices, he is hall-marked by the traditions handed down through countless generations of forefathers who guarded and provided for their womankind and domineered over them as well.

Yet there are few mistakes in life more fatal to happiness than that of the marriage of a clever man with a fool. "Folly as it flies" is not infrequently a fascinating object of pursuit, but folly captured, domesticated and stationary is froth and soapsuds, if it be not dust and ashes upon the tongue; as disappointing as was the purchased puppet of the old tale. The error is one far more disastrous, usually, to men than to women, nor are women so likely to commit it as are men. A man, as all men will bear witness, may be more or less a fool, and yet succeed fairly well in business; may, moreover, be steered straight through the shoals of social life by the hands of a clever woman; but the foolish women whom men like are silly rather than stupid, and, as such, are helpless.

What happiness can a man of broad views and high ability find with a narrow-minded creature, utterly incapable of even dimly comprehending the value of the subjects which occupy him? A commonplace woman need not be silly; many such a one has made a good wife for a man of genius.

Frivolity is not always folly. If all play and no work makes mere toys of both Jack and Jill, so also all work and no play converts them into dull clods. But there must be sympathy between man and wife, else there can be no deep and lasting love. "Be ye not unequally yoked together."

Noise and the Law.

From the London Saturday Review.

At a conference in the House of Commons on Wednesday it was decided to draft a bill for next session giving powers to the local authorities to deal with street-noise nuisances. We are glad to see that Sir Henry Primrose, whom nobody can accuse of faddism or unpractical politics, is strongly in favor of legislation. He declared at the conference that no other civilized community suffered such streef nuisances as London does.

Of course there are robustious folk who like a din all day and half the night in the streets, as there are others whose eyes are delighted by the advertisements of quack pills and soaps that disfigure the fields along the railway lines, or whose lungs thrive on a yellow or black London fog. But a strong public opinion is forming against these modern barbarisms. Medical men decidedly favor the cause of quiet. Several well-known doctors took part in the discussion on Wednesday and made practical suggestions. Unless something is done before long we may all have to adopt Herbert Spencer's plan and use ear-stoppers. He used to say that he could barricade himself absolutely by this method from displeasing noises, chiefly the talk of the bores.

OUT OF THE MOUTHS OF BABES

From the Chicago News.

"I'll g-get even w-with you, m-mam ma," sobbed small Elsie, who had just been severely chastised.

"How?" queried her mother.

"When I g-grow up and h-have a l-little girl I'll beat the life out of h-her," answered Elsie.

"What does your papa give you for being such a good boy, Tommy?" asked the visitor.

"He don't give me nothin' for bein' good," answered the little fellow, "but what he gives me when I'm bad is a plenty."

Small Harry: Am I a barber, mamma?

Mamma: Certainly not, dear. But why do you ask?

Small Harry: Uncle Bob called me a "little shaver" this morning.

"Willie, didn't I tell you not to play with your toy soldiers on Sunday?" queried the mother.

"Yes, mamma," replied Willie, "but I'm playing they are Salvation Army soldiers."

BETTY VINCENT'S ADVICE to LOVERS

The Silly Girl Who "Pretends."

Written for the Post-Dispatch.

THERE is a great mistake rolling around in the air a great deal of the time with a great many of the girls. It is that they like to give the impression must have lots of money spent on them and that they use only the best and most expensive of everything.

Now, most of the girls that are fond of slinging this bluff at people have no visible means of proving it—and the visible means are what count.

The girl who claims to wear clothes made by the most expensive tailors and dressmakers and who rips the band off the real article and sews it onto a cheaper one doesn't fool anybody. She thinks she does.

Pretending that she is the true article is a pitiful performance.

The girl who is admired by the men who can see is the one who can make pretty things and say that she made them—not pretend they came from Paris. She does not talk about where she gets her clothes. They are admired and envied without that.

Her clothes fit her, and the man who wants to marry her, if he isn't a millionaire, knows that he will get a smart woman without getting gray hair over a lot of silly bills.

The impression that the bluffer makes is that she is too expensive to be worth the trouble (if what she says is true). He knows that the other girl would not be too expensive a wife and it would be a pleasure to marry her.

Frankness will be found the best and least expensive road for all you girls to travel. It is the best in every way. Pretense is a poor thing, and only one in a hundred women can ever make it work.

A Bricklayer for President

Are you following Russell around the world in his intimate studies of typical governments?

There was slavery—actual human slavery—in Australia six years ago; there is none now. There was domination by land-owners equal to that of our trusts and railroads—that, too, is passing.

Who has done this? They who toil with their hands—carpenters, printers, bricklayers. Men "inexperienced and unfit," but with a sense of right and fair play, unhampered by "interests."

Revolution? Yes, but of the gentlest. Practical for America? Maybe.

BEHR STAR PLAYER NEWPORT COURTS

Young Yalensian Impresses Experts With His Splendid Playing and Leads Them to Think That There Will Be a New Champion at Tennis.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 24.—All records of previous lawn tennis national championships have been broken here. With the third day of play in the biggest meeting ever held on the famous Casino courts, only 16 out of the 117 starters remain as survivors. This remnant is also remarkable in that it is evenly divided between the younger players and the veterans. Of the former class Karl H. Behr Jr., the Yale champion, easily tops all of the others. He is faster than the redoubtable Bob Wrenn in his palmiest days, so that his place in the finals is regarded as assured.

William J. Clothier was given the post of honor with the young Harvard player, F. J. Sulloway, as his opponent in the starred match upon the championship stretch of turf. He scored at 6—0, 6—3 and 6—4. But with such a card as the program presented the fashionable gallery and the keen followers of the game were undecided between the desire to witness this contest and also those in which Behr, Frederick G. Alexander, Raymond D. Little and Robert Leroy finally came through the victors.

So the assemblage, one of the largest that has ever attended the tournament, scattered about the courts of their favorites.

Clothier failed to display at all times his top form that in other years had caused him to be rated with the champions and named for the international team. He only gained the first set at love as Sulloway had passed him so cleverly on his left-hand line that the points touched deuce and all of Clothier's skill at forcing play was necessary to save the games.

In the second Sulloway won games by his wonderful cross-court smashing and swift volleying that at times threatened to carry the old player before him. The line drives of the younger expert worried Clothier, and when Sulloway took the lead for the first time by scoring at 2—0 in this set, the veteran made a quick attack at the net and brought off the points by smashing. There was no question but that the prominence given the "comer" had set his nerves a-tingling. It caused him to make erratic returns when he most needed the points and Clothier took full advantage of it. The two men scored evenly up to 4—all on this set and then Clothier cut loose and by fast driving, which his towering six feet made most effective, he won the necessary games and the set at 6—4

GANS AND NELSON DO LIGHT WORK

Principals in Nevada Fist Fight Are Training for Labor Day Meeting.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

GOLDFIELD, Nev. Aug. 24.—Joe Gans' stock went up with a rush on the report made by the physician of the Miners' Union that the boxer was in perfect physical condition.

Betting became more brisk at once and the odds on Gans rose from 10 to 9 to 10 to 7, with little Nelson money in sight. It is not unlikely that 2 to 1 will be the ringside price, as the miners all favor the colored man. Gans weighs 135½ pounds. He has cut down his work as he does not want to risk getting stale.

Nelson has begun his "ladies' day" exhibitions, and about 100 women went to his quarters to see his training today. After some lively bag punching and rope skipping, he boxed four rounds with Lundie.

Some unique features will mark the Labor Day battle. There will be no deadheads except the attendants of the fighters and the police. Even members of the club and promoters will pay for their seats. Then the contest will be managed as a parlor affair, because 300 women will attend. Four hundred and twenty five-dollar seats have been sold. Indications are that the arena will be crowded to its full capacity. The Attorney-General of the State has placed an order for a number of the best seats. One local saloon man bought $500 worth of seats to distribute among his friends.

Work is being pushed on the construction of the arena and the large force of men at work promises that the building will be completed in a few days. In fact it is rapidly nearing completion now.

Indications are that the ten-round preliminary bout between Jack Clifford and Bobby Lundie for a $1000 purse will be almost as interesting as the main event. Both men are training hard and are as anxious as if theirs was to be the winning.

Clifford is at weight, while Lundie is a little heavy, but claims he will have no difficulty in making the weights before weighing-in time. Gans and Nelson are both doing road work and sparring daily, until the Mayor's return, Sept. 1.

MUSEUM IN THE COTTAGE.

Directors Consider Removal to Forest Park Structure.

The St. Louis Public Museum is looking for a new home, and may be compelled to house its exhibits in Forest Park Cottage or the unused Lindell Pavilion unless the directors can prevail upon the wreckers of the Fair not to demolish the west annex of the Fine Arts Building, wherein the Museum is now housed.

Officials of the Exposition company and of the city, when visited by museum directors, said they were powerless to prevent the destruction of the building, as the ordinance authorizing the Fair required the removal of all temporary structures. Walter B. Stevens, secretary of the company, said the company was willing to give the building to the Museum if the city would release the company from all obligations of removing it. Park Commissioner Aull and Street Commissioner Valliant said nothing could be done to stay the wreckers

WEARY GIANTS WILLING TO QUIT

Bold, Bad Boys of McGraw Feel Lonesome, So Many Miles Away From Broadway.

BY BOZEMAN BULGER.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 24.—The Giants are homesick and want to get back to the sheltering care of the New York fans. Like weary soldiers, they are battling for a lost cause and hopes of fame; victory are no more. The best they can expect is second place, and the champions will have to go some to land even that.

The absence of McGraw from the bench has seriously demoralized the playing of the team and the fact that his suspension continues has caused them to be disheartened. Without his hand to direct them the champions are like sheep. They feel lost.

John T. Brush says the action of President Pulliam in keeping McGraw out of the game or in ignorance of his final punishment has lost the pennant for New York. The scrappy little manager watches the games from a box in a languid manner and when he returns to his hotel says nothing in the way of censure or criticism to his men. It is one of his policies never to offer criticism when he tells a player to use his best judgment. The slump of the club, however, is telling on Mac. His natural happy disposition has changed to one of moroseness. He has not played a joke on one of his men in two weeks. He takes no part in their fun-making schemes, in which he used to be the leader, but sticks close to his room, except when attending the games.

The Giants are anxious for the end of the season. The fight they are itching for is the series of games with the Highlanders. They feel absolutely confident of winning and they are already making up a pool to bet on the contest. They are ready to back themselves to beat the Highlanders to any amount up to $5000. That's not stage money, either.

GOLTERMAN STIRS HORSE SHOW MEN

The report of Guy Golterman, attorney for the St. Louis Horse Show Co., was the most important matter considered at the meeting of the society Thursday in the parlors of the Planters Hotel.

To Mr. Golterman had been allotted the task of making a preliminary report as to the possibility of securing the Coliseum for the annual show.

His report recommended the appointment of a committee to co-operate with the William Jennings Bryan committee in an effort to postpone any immediate destruction of the exposition building.

The suggestion was unanimously adopted and a committee composed of Robert Aull, Max Orthwein, Cy Blanke and Edgar Rand appointed to confer with Fred W. Lehman, chairman of the Public Library Board.

The Horse Show delegation will probably confer with Mr. Lehman this week, after which conference a definite announcement can be expected as to the date and location of the 1906 show.

S.S.S. FOR THE BLOOD

The purifying action and curative properties of this great remedy have made "S. S. S. For The Blood" a household saying, and thousands who are today enjoying perfect health owe their recovery from blood or skin diseases to this universally used blood medicine. S. S. S. is made entirely from roots, herbs and barks which possess not only cleansing and healing ingredients, but building-up and strengthening properties to keep the blood in perfect order. No one can be well when the blood is impure; they lack the energy and strength that is natural with health, the complexion becomes pale and sallow, the vitality is weakened and they suffer from a general broken down condition. When the waste or refuse matter, which nature intends shall be thrown off, is left in the system because of a sluggish, torpid condition of the expelling members, it is absorbed into the blood, making this vital stream weak, sour and acrid, and its condition is manifested by boils, pimples, rashes, blotches and other eruptions of the skin. S. S. S. goes into the circulation and removes every particle of blood taint or poison of every character, makes the blood fresh and strong and gives energy to the entire body. When the blood has been cleansed by S. S. S. all said diseases and eruptions pass away and the smooth, clear skin, glowing with health, shows that the body is being nourished by rich, pure blood. Rheumatism, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Scrofula, Contagious Blood Poison, etc. are all deep-seated blood disorders, and for their cure nothing equals S. S. S. It does not injuriously affect the most delicate parts of the body and can be taken with perfect safety by old or young. BROWN'S PITCHING WAS BRILLIANT Crack Twirler of the Cardinals Did His Best Work and Beat Boston.

Pitcher Brown twirled grand baseball for the Cardinals Thursday and the McCloskeyites found little difficulty in defeating Boston, 8 to 1.

While Brown was demonstrating what a really excellent pitcher he is, the Cardinals for four full innings were slapping away at the ball in a fashion that tickled the bosoms of those who have McCloskey affiliations.

During that period Bennett and Grady got two hits and Barry, Mertes, Burch and Phyle one each.

Beginning with the fifth, Dorner began to improve, and for the last four innings not a Cardinal reached first base.

The Beaneaters played a miserable game, Goode dropping a punt pop fly, Tenney an easy thrown ball and Brown and Dorner erring on easy chances.

There was little interest attached to the game after the first inning.

LIKE GOESSLING TO WIN THE SWIM

Breast Stroke Champion Favorite to Take Ten Mile Race in Mississippi.

Aquaticians say that the winner of Saturday's 10-mile endurance swim in the Mississippi River, in which 22 men are to compete, will be either August M. Goessling, breast-stroke champion of America; Duthiel Cabanne, captain of the Missouri Athletic Club's water polo team; Andre Roosevelt or Frankie Hall, the 16-year-old Webster lad, who is a veritable duck in the water.

In the allotment of handicaps by Official Handicapper Bland, which have just been issued, Goessling is conceded five minutes over H. J. Handy of Chicago, the scratch man; Duthiel Cabanne, 18 minutes; Roosevelt, 18 minutes, and young Hall, 23 minutes.

The time allowance (35 minutes) has been allotted to E. C. Eisenmeyer of the Muegge Institute; George Schick, Benton Park S. S., and R. O. Weber, Muegge Institute.

H. J. Handy of Chicago, F. Zimmerman Jr. of Memphis, Tenn., and W. P. Holaday of Danville, Ill., will be the out-or-town entries who are expected to participate in the swim.

The race will be started at 2 p. m. from a point two miles south of the Chain of Rocks and each swimmer will be accompanied by a second.

The official list of the contestants who will compete in the race, with their official numbers and handicaps, follows:

Williams led the Highlanders with the bat. Billy made two hits in three attempts. Conroy made a double in three efforts.

BASEBALL BABBLE

Boston at League Park again Friday afternoon. This will end the current three-game series.

Rhoades or Beebe will tackle Lindamann and the Beaneaters.

Mike Grady led his teammates with the willow. Mike was the author of two hits and two runs.

Barry manufactured a triple and scored three runs.

Bennett was the only other Cardinal who made two safeties. He failed to score any runs.

Marshall, Hoelskoetter and Brown were the only Cardinals who failed to get safe hits.

The Cardinals are but 21 points behind the Trolley Dodgers, and may catch them yet.

The outfield had five putouts to its credit. Barry collared one, Burch and Mertes two each.

Bennett made one error in nine chances.

Not a stolen base was recorded at League Park Thursday. The catchers must have been going some, or else the runners had feet of lead.

Five Bostonians and four Cardinals smote the air three times.

The Cardinals made the only double play of the day. It started with Phyle and ended with Grady. Bennett was in the middle.

The Cardinals made but one error. Boston made four. The usual reliable Tenny dropped a throw from Howard.

Powell made but one hit. It has been demonstrated that one hit can win a game.

Niles, Wallace and Koehler each made two hits.

Jones, Stone and O'Connor were the only Ravens who failed to hit.

Freeman batted for Winters in the ninth inning and doubled. He scored Boston's only run.

Three double plays were made at Boston Thursday. The Ravens turned one and Boston two. No bases were stolen. Two extra base hits—Powell's four-bagger and Freeman's two-bagger.

Each team made 10 hits, but Pittsburg took advantage of New York's errors.

The Ravens will play at Boston Friday afternoon. Glade and Dineen will probably be the opposing twirlers.

The Giants lost to the Pirates Thursday and dropped into third place. Schoolmaster Sam Leever was the main cause of the defeat which was thrust upon Muggsy's bunch.

Donlin batted for Ferguson in the ninth inning and failed to get a hit. Shannon made his daily hit. He is also charged up with an error.

Wagner led the winners with the stick. Hans made three hits, including a double, in four tries.

Duggleby was as big a cinch for the Cubs as he was for the Cardinals. The score was 5 to 3. Eleven hits, including five doubles and two bases on balls may tell the tale.

Although out-hit by the Nationals, the White Sox won their nineteenth straight game.

Isbell batted best for the winners. He made three hits in four tries to the plate. He also stole one base.

Hickman made a triple and two singles in three tries at Washington Thursday.

New York defeated Cleveland and moved into third place. Orth turned the trick.

Dygert, Coakley and Waddell could not stop the Tigers from defeating the Athletics. The score was close, 7 to 6. Coughlin made two hits in two tries and retired for the day with a percentage of 1000.

Mullin, Schmidt, Coughlin, Crawford and Jones made doubles off the Philadelphia pitchers.

Lord of the Athletics made four hits in five tries. Danny Hoffman is not missed very much. Of the cluster of four one was a triple.

WHAT D'YE THINK OF JACK'S HOMER?

Powell Won His Own Game by Lashing the Ball for Four Bases.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BOSTON, Aug. 23.—The Ravens and the Pilgrims are scheduled to play the second game of their final series of the season on the home grounds today. Glade and Dineen are the probable pitchers and the battle between the two giants should prove interesting.

Jack Powell was the hero of yesterday's game, which the Ravens won 3 to 1.

Powell's work overshadowed that of every other player in the game.

The ex-boilermaker not only twirled a remarkable game in the box, but it was his fearful smash for four bases that was directly responsible for the trio of runs scored by the St. Louis club. The smash came in the fifth inning and Koehler, O'Connor and Powell all trotted home.

In the box Powell also shone, holding Boston to six hits and striking out half a dozen batters.

Winters, who opposed Powell, was batted for nine safeties, but notwithstanding this he kept the hits so well scattered that it is questionable if St. Louis would have beaten Boston but for Powell's homerun drive.

THE SPORTSMAN'S NICHE

Sometimes I cannot avoid feeling that some people are disposed to take sporting life and its pitiful problems too seriously, to play the Quixote too assiduously, to be forever fighting, charging windmills of what they deem abuses in sport, creating contentions and forming foes.

The most entertaining and brilliant sporting writer I have ever known, the late Joe Campbell, once told me that sport was all a joke and should not be taken seriously. Mr. Campbell wrote it as a joke and throve immensely doing it. I believe that Mr. Campbell was wrong. Sport, in its athletic form, makes too large a part of our social life, works too strongly for the formation of manhood and character to be treated as a joke.

Politics have been taken as a joke. Bribery has been taken as a joke, or, at least, as a conventional offense. That the commonwealth was the better for taking these things as a joke we must have grave doubts.

We have been so far in the "roughing out" stage. We are coming up to the polishing age. We have shaped our destinies, annealed a nation, a commerce, a future and a country. We are now due for the refining process.

We read that our public men must cultivate the languages of diplomacy, French, German, etc. This would indicate that we are reaching the position long held by European nations and are about to examine our consciences and find out what we know and where we stand.

And when you read the stories written by men of depth, education, breeding and refinement and understand just how much good sportsmanship has to do with the formation of manly character and how far it goes to confer grace of person and of mind upon man, it seems that it is best that we take it not as a joke, but as a very serious if charming proposition, and one which is worthy of our very deepest and most careful consideration.

We note with pleasure that our dear friend, Mr. T. W. Cahill is one more president of an Association Football League, which will play its games at Kulage Park. It is a matter of satisfaction to know that the recent little tiff between Messrs. Cahill and Kulage over baseball games will not affect good business propositions in the winter season.

A misprint in a morning paper makes the honorable and imposing Teutonic patronymic of Golterman appear Falterman. From what we know of the demeanor of the present bearer of the most honorable suffix on the handball courts, we should say that Falter is not inexpressibly inappropriate.

Members of the Bryan Reception Committee and St. Louis Horse Show Society are importuning President Lehmann of the Carnegie Library Board to permit the Coliseum to stand until they get through with their respective functions. Between the Democratic donkey and the aristocratic horse can Mr. Lehman brashly bray "Neigh" as an answer?

And to think that Thursday while we were playing golf in the broiling sun our little pal, Myles J. Burke, was doing us by doing football. Myles J. is a most unchristian young sinner whose lack of sense of the eternal fitness is so vast that he would eat with his knife at a Chinese rice fest.

In this issue the Post-Dispatch contains a story on the New York Giants written by Mr. Bozeman Bulger, a gentleman very much inclined to them in friendliness. Taken as a specimen of a description of a clean case of quit it is a gem. As long as the Giants could bully umpires and league officials they could win and keep up their pluck.

The very instant they found that umpires, officials, press or people would not tolerate their bulldozing, they quit cold.

And I must allow friends and admirers of a team like this to tell me that they are champions?

A friend writes challenging a statement made that the word audience is not properly applicable to the spectators at a baseball game or any other athletic demonstration and quotes from a letter written by William J. Bryan, in which the eminent publicist uses audience in writing of the crowd present in the Stadium at Athens during the Olympic games.

I cannot help it. A featherweight hates to tackle heavyweights and a sporting editor hesitates to jump in among the leviathans of the editorial page, not to speak of joining issue with such a giant as Mr. Bryan.

In this case the gentleman from Nebraska errs, ill though it become a man from Ireland to say it. Audiences hear. Spectators see. You are supposed to be entertained by seeing, not by hearing, at a demonstration of athletics. Theater goers both see and hear and audience is very proper so far as they are concerned.

English sporting writers, whom I much admire, have a fearful habit of making singular nouns stand for plural pronouns and verbs. They say of a football team, "Liverpool were in splendid form. They completely outclassed Everton."

Now just where the were and the they are permissable I cannot see. It is a fault into which American sporting writers very rarely drop. In England it is so generally used that it has almost become proper.

MAJ. SALMON WILL RECOVER FROM FALL

Former Clinton Banker Pitches Downstairs and Is Severely Injured.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CLINTON, Mo., Aug. 24.—Maj. Harvey W. Salmon, president of the defunct Salmon & Salmon Bank, who fell down a long flight of stairs at his home while in a somnambulistic state and severely injured himself, was in an improved condition this morning, and despite his advanced age is expected to recover.

The accident occurred between 9 and 10 o'clock. For several months Maj. Salmon has been in feeble health, and much of the time confined to his bed. Whenever he wishes to go from one apartment to another in the night he requires aid.

Wednesday night he retired early. His sleeping apartment is at the head of the stairs on the second floor. The rest of the family were below. Maj. Salmon arose in his sleep and fell down the stairs. A wrist was dislocated and a hip severely bruised.

While responding to the call Dr. J. H. Brittis, his physician, fell into a ditch. The little finger on the left hand was broken and a broken umbrella handle pierced the palm.

Not Likely.

NO DEATH WATCH ON AGGIE MYERS

Authorities Place Hottman in Death Cell, but Are Kind to Murderess.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LIBERTY, Mo., Aug. 24.—Mrs. Agnes Myers, sentenced to be executed Sept. 3 for complicity in the murder of her husband in Kansas City, has not been placed under a death watch and it is very probable that she will not be unless it is found that the law expressly requires it. It is thought by some of the officials that it is only a matter of custom.

Mrs. Myers is very hopeful that her sentence will be commuted to life imprisonment. If it is not, her attorneys will appeal the case to the United States Supreme Court.

Frank Hottman, also sentenced to die for Myers' murder, was placed under the death watch yesterday. Hottman was the Myers woman's lover and was the principal witness against her. He testified that while he was beating Myers with a billiard cue, Mrs. Myers stabbed her husband repeatedly with a pair of scissors.

CONGRESS MAY ABOLISH NEGRO ENLISTMENTS

War Department Finds Four Regiments of Blacks a "White Elephant."

ARE WANTED NOWHERE

13 NEGRO SOLDIERS HELD

Bench Warrants Issued Against Alleged Participants in Rioting at Brownsville, Tex.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—The most vexatious problem now confronting the War Department is the disposition of the negro troops of the regular army. The killing of a white citizen at Brownsville, Tex., by the negro soldiers of the Twenty-fifth Infantry has brought about a crisis which has been developing for some time.

No community in any section of the country wants the negro troops. When they were stationed at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., at the fort in Des Moines, Io., and in other sections of the North, East and West, there were vigorous protests. When the negroes were sent South there were strong protests, and finally the department decided that the solution of the question was to send them to the Philippines.

This decision created such violent opposition on the part of the Filipinos that Secretary Taft was forced to issue an order that no more negro troops be sent there except for service in the Island of Mindanao to fight the black Moros. The only negro troops that can be sent to Mindanao is to relieve those now there.

Congress May Repeal Law.

The War Department is in a predicament. Congress directed that four negro regiments be enlisted, and these regiments have been organized since the latter part of the Civil War. Every time these troops are moved from one post to another there is trouble for the department, until the situation has grown so bad that at its next session Congress will be asked to pass legislation repealing the law authorizing the enlistment of negro troops or to adopt a resolution directing that they be assigned to post, regardless of protests of the people.

It cannot longer be denied that the sentiment against the negro is growing stronger in every section of the country, and one of the first problems to be solved is that relating to the negro soldier. It will be hard for Congress to discriminate against the negro, as he is a taxpayer, and has rights under the Constitution. He also has demonstrated that he makes an excellent soldier when under the command of white officers. Gen. Bell, the Chief of Staff, is now at Oyster Bay discussing the question with the President.

13 NEGRO SOLDIERS ARRESTED AT FT. BROWN

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., Aug. 24.—On bench warrants issued by District Judge Welch 12 negro soldiers of the Twenty-fifth Infantry and one discharged soldier of the same regiment were yesterday arrested and held in the guardhouse at Fort Brown to answer to charges of murder and riot.

Maj. Penrose, commandant at the post, declared he was unable to discover the guilty soldiers, and an investigation was begun by the District Attorney, Capt. McDonald and Judge Welch.

The negro troops left here for Fort Reno early this morning. The people of Brownsville are indignant at what they call the false report sent to Washington by Maj. Penrose regarding the Brownsville trouble. He calls it a battle with the citizens, but not a shot was fired by a single citizen, except by a few policemen, who attempted to check the uniformed murderers.

The Board of Health has upheld the dismissal from the city service of Robert H. Pethebridge, formerly a milk inspector. Pethebridge was said to have made analytical tests of milk for dealers, in violation of the rules of the department. Pethebridge questioned the authority of Acting City Chemist Buckland to dismiss him. The board was unanimous in upholding Buckland.

IT'S not too late to save money on clothes —in fact the opportunities we now offer exceed in interesting features any yet placed before you, as the particularly high standard from which our clothes never vary is most conspicuously apparent in these broken lines of Men's Worsted and Flannel Suits which we sacrifice so ruthlessly.

Two months' wear yet this season, to say nothing of next Spring and Summer! See what you save:

PARTED AT ALTAR BY A SPOONFUL OF WINE; HE IS 70, SHE IS 65

Daniel Keim Had Fought Liquor All His Life and Had Won, but Fiancee Flavored a Glass of Milk With the Old Tempter and He Rebelled.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Aug. 24.—All the town sat on its verandas last night and discussed an all-absorbing question: "Did Daniel De Venneville Keim do right in refusing to marry sweet, gentle-mannered Mrs. Elizabeth L. Bryan?"

The purely religious people of Ocean Grove seemed to think that she was willing. The religious-prohibitionist-extremists sided with the gray-haired old man who has refused to marry the woman of his heart at the last moment.

The love affair of 70-year-old Daniel Keim and 65-year-old Elizabeth Bryan was one in which all who knew them took an interest. They had known each other for 30 years. Mrs. Bryan's last husband died nine years ago. Mr. Keim was a widower whose children had families of their own. Both were lonely as the younger generation grew away from them. Each looked to the other for sympathy and encouragement.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bryan is proprietor and leader of Beulah Home, a religious boarding house inside the gates of Ocean Park, the camp meeting city by the sea. Those who were told that she was 65 years old were surprised. She looks years younger. She is a religious worker. She has mild eyes, a sweet smile, brown hair that has hardly a silk thread among it, and the figure of sprightliness of a woman of 20. She has been married twice before. She conducts a branch religious house at West Belmar, N. J.

Daniel de Benneville Keim, kindly, with a smile for all, moved to Asbury Park 30 years ago and has held many places of trust. Years ago he came to the realization that strong liquors were his worst enemy. He was converted and swore never to yield to the tempter again. Elizabeth Bryan helped him most.

Seven months ago Mr. Keim asked Mrs. Bryan to become his wife. She consented.

Put Wine in His Milk.

"We have been attending the meetings together," said Mrs. Bryan today. "We have been together a great deal. We were to have been married yesterday. I had my clothes ready. The guests had been invited. The Rev. Genry Ashton, an intimate friend, was to perform the ceremony. Daniel came out Tuesday to see me. He complained of feeling ill. I knew the long battle that he had fought against liquor. The devil was at my elbow. I wanted to flavor some milk. I thought of a little flask of wine that had been in the house since my mother's last illness. She died three years ago. I put a teaspoonful of the wine in each glass. Oh, it was such a little mite that I used.

"When Daniel tasted it he suddenly asked what the flavoring was. I said 'Daniel, it is a spoonful of wine.' He didn't say anything, but in a little while he went away.

"It troubled me all night. I am a very strict prohibitionist. I don't use wine myself, or any other medicine.

"The next day we had prepared for the wedding. The guests had arrived. I was very happy. Then came the note from Daniel. Of course, it was a surprise to me. But in the midst of it all the glory of Daniel's uprightness and his sacrifice for his principles shone out like a star in a dark night. I am so sorry that it happened, but wasn't it grand in him? I just got my Bible down and turned to the thirteenth chapter of Corinthians, and—and—I am sure it will all turn out right. I am still waiting for Daniel to come and marry me and I am sure he will."

"I am sure that I am doing the right thing," said Mr. Keim when he was seen at his home. "I have fought against liquor for years. There is no knowing how easily I might fall. I love Elizabeth. She is a dear woman. We will still be the best of friends. Lest you should get a wrong impression I will show you a copy of the letter I sent her. We sat together in the camp-meeting yesterday as we always have done, and I shall always love her."

HOW FIANCE OF 70 JILTED FIANCEE OF 65

ASBURY PARK, Aug. 22.—Dear Sister Bryan: I am sorry, but I have considered the matter over in connection with your bringing milk for me to drink with wine in it. It would not take many such drinks to get me to go back to the old habit and the more I think over it, the more I am surprised. Though you may have done it innocently—as once you did—I could not think of marrying you for all that.

I love you in the Lord.

I have nothing to say wrong of you. May God bless you is my prayer. Yours as ever.

DANIEL DE B. KEIM.

MONKEY'S VANITY MAKES HER CAPTIVE

Judy Was Charmed When She Saw Herself in Belleville Mirror.

HAD DESERTED A SHOW

Gave Many the Laugh and Put Dog to Flight Before Her Fall.

Vanity was the undoing of George Merker's monkey, Judy. She shook off the shackles of captivity and had a good chance to go back to the jungle, but when a looking glass was handed to her she took one look at herself and went into a trance, and it was an easy matter to recapture her.

Judy was the soubrette of a monkey show up to a year ago. When she appeared at the street fair on North Illinois street in Belleville she saw so many "monkeys" that she decided to stay. She broke away from the gay life that she had been leading and hid out until the show left town.

After hanging around on Lebanon avenue and causing a large number of men to take the pledge in the neighborhood, she was captured and was acquired by George Merker of 215 Douglas avenue. For an ex-Simian soubrette she behaved very nicely until Thursday night. Then she hearkened to the call of the wild and broke her chain and took to the treetops.

During the evening she had an awful lot of fun monkeying with the folks on Douglas avenue. She would come down to the ground and mosey around tame-like until somebody tried to catch her, and then she was away with a hop, step and jump and shinning up the nearest tree, from the top of which she gave the pursuers the giggle.

Once when she came down for a siesta on the Merker cistern platform, an untutored dog of the neighborhood mistook Judy for a cat and went for her. A minute later he would have given anything to be under the porch at home. Judy took it easy until the pup was in good range and then she went up into the air three feet and came down on his back. The dog gave one howl of despair and sank down paralyzed.

Judy sat on his back until he was satisfied that there wasn't going to be a fight and she then smiled cynically and withdrew. So did the dog.

Judy made a night of it and Friday morning she was discovered sitting on a limb in the back yard of the residence of Edward Julius, 226 Douglas avenue. Mr. Julius invited her to come down and be caught, but she shook her head roguishly and hummed, "Oh, life is so gay and free, so gay and free, so gay-ay-ay and free."

Mr. Julius remembered something that he had read somewhere and brought out a hand mirror. He threw reflected sunlight into Judy's eyes and she became interested. It struck her that if she had a thing like that she could have a dickens of a tile with it and she came down and looked wistfully at it. Mr. Julius craftily withdrew it and Judy squeaked: "Go on, gimme it," he understood her to say.

He handed it to her and she looked into it to see what made the light. When she saw herself she gulped with astonishment. She had never suspected how fatally fair she was. In about a minute she was under a spell. She forgot all about Mr. Julius. While she was busy looking at herself he dropped a box over her. Then he cruelly took the looking glass from her and she woke up.

POLICE TEAM IS FINALLY SELECTED

Baseball Nine to Play Letter Carriers Sept. 4 Weeded Out.

MAIL MEN WANT GORE

Last Year's Game Went to Ten Innings and Police Won by a Single Tally.

The prospective line-up of the police nine in the baseball game which is to be played Tuesday, Sept. 4, at American League Park between the police and letter carriers, consists of the following players:

Robert Fitzgerald, catch.
Henry Donnel'y, utility.
John A. Smith, catcher or first base.
John Kenna, second base.
August Stricker, first base.
John Becherer, shortstop.
D. J. Ryan, left field.
Patrick Lynch, center field.
Ambrose Malone, right field.
Chas. Smith, pitcher.
Thomas Craddick, utility shortstop.
Edward J. Connell, utility first base.
Sergt. Michael Drissel, captain and manager.

The team is in the best of condition, and does three hours' hard work daily at American League Park. The batting and fielding of Stricker are very sensational. Ryan and Lynch cover acres of ground, and the throwing to bases of Fitzgerald is brilliant. The team is the pick of 1100 bluecoats, and through the careful judgment of Sergt. Drissel and Patrolman Kink Connell, who played professional ball during their younger days, is said to be the strongest team in any police department throughout the country.

The game just a year past between the letter carriers and police was a hard-fought 10-inning struggle, and filled the park with rooters for both departments. An attendance of 7000 witnessed the game, which resulted in a score of 11 to 10 in favor of the police.

The game this year will be for the benefit of the Post-Dispatch Free Ice and Pure Milk Fund. There will be a parade of both clubs around the park and a half-hour concert by the House of Refuge Band. The game will be called promptly at 3 o'clock.

Mr. R. L. Hedges has given the park and all his assistance to make this the largest charity ball game the people of this city will ever witness. The uniforms of the police are being made of dark blue, white star on the left breast, white belt and stockings; the carriers will wear a new gray uniform with black cap, stockings and belt.

The general admission will be 25 cents. Grandstand tickets will be 35 cents. Ten thousand tickets will be placed on sale next week at all the drug stores throughout the city.

KNOCKED FROM BOXCAR.

Conductor's Skull Fractured by Mail Crane.

Edward Stevens, conductor on a Missouri Pacific local freight train, was knocked from the side of a box car by a protruding mail crane as his train swept through Boles, Mo., at the rate of 35 miles an hour Thursday. Stevens' skull was fractured and he was brought to the Missouri Pacific Hospital.

The freight train was running on the time of the eastbound fast mail, for which the mail crane had been set in position. The mail train was late, and as the freight train swept through Boles ahead of it Stevens stood on the side of a box car preparing to give a message to the station master.

Boles is 47 miles from St. Louis. Stevens is the third of the crew of the freight train to be injured recently. Engineer James Brown's hand was cut off by the sudden starting of the engine while he was oiling it. A brakeman a few days before lost an arm while fastening the air connections.

FINDS HER BARON IS A LOCKSMITH

American Girl Has "Titled" Husband Arrested in Hamburg for Desertion.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

Copyright, 1906, by the Press Pub. Co. (New York World.)

LONDON, Aug. 24.—The Daily Mail's correspondent at Hamburg says the police there today arrested Ewald J. Conrad, alias Baron Von Dobrowolsky Donnersmarck, who deserted his American bride at Paris a few days ago.

Of the $45,000 in money and jewels which Conrad took with him, the greater part of the jewels had been disposed of, but the police have secured the remainder. Conrad is said to be a locksmith.

The first story of this scandal came here in cablegrams from Paris. Who the American girl is has been kept secret, but she is said to be of excellent family.

Some months ago the lady, who is well known here, met a handsome, distinguished-looking foreigner at a social function in New York. The couple soon became engaged and were married. They came to Europe on their honeymoon.

The husband represented himself to be the scion of a very distinguished European family, well known in diplomatic circles. The couple came to Paris and stopped at one of the leading hotels. While there an anonymous letter reached the bride which led her to doubt the genuineness of the title of nobility which her husband claimed. There was a scene and the climax came a few days ago when the husband disappeared.

A great deal of the bride's jewelry and spare cash disappeared about the same time.

BOY RISKED LIFE FOR HIS BROTHER

Both Lads About to Drown in Forest Park When Assistance Reaches Them.

Robert Ray, 7 years old, and his 9-year-old brother, Earl, who tried to rescue Robert from drowning in the River des Peres, were at their home, 3307 Lawton avenue, Friday, fully recovered from their almost fatal experience of the previous day.

Robert and Earl Ray, with Otis Millard, also of 3307 Lawton avenue, were playing about the stream in Forest Park, opposite the Monticello Hotel. The boys went near the water's edge and threw pebbles in and watched the ripples as they rolled towards them. The bank is of mud and is slippery. Robert lost his footing and fell in.

At the point where Robert fell in there is a hole in the bed of the river, making the water about four feet deep. It was over the boy's head and he sank from sight as he fell.

Earl Ray jumped in after his smaller brother and succeeded in towing him to the edge of the water. Before him was a steep mud bank about six feet high. Earl could get no hold upon the bank and he and his brother sank back into the water.

They were both drowning when the cries of Otis Millard brought Robert G. Pettibone of 107 South Fifteenth street. Pettibone jumped into the water. He could stand on the bottom and his head still remained above the surface of the water. He held the Ray boys out of the water and waded with them to a point where the bank was not so high.

Robert was exhausted from his experience. It was some time before he was revived. After persons who happened to be in the neighborhood worked over him he was taken to the City Dispensary. Earl was revived more quickly.

IT'S LOTS OF WORK FOR ONE PAIR OF HANDS.

One pair of hands in a kitchen without Gas is overworked.

There's the ashes to empty, the wood to cut, the coal to carry. That's work.

There's the dirt and soot to be scoured from the kettles and pans at each cooking. That's work.

There's the daily scrubbing of dirt and grime from the woodwork and shelves. That's work.

There's a half an hour's work before each meal getting fires to burning and flues cleaned out.

A Gas Range does this extra work by doing away with it, and what is more, it does its work so much cheaper that it pays for itself while it is doing it.

A GAS RANGE Is an EXTRA PAIR of HANDS

NO FIRST PAYMENT NECESSARY.

WRECKED BANK DEPOSITORS AND POLICE BATTLE

15,000 Persons Surround Milwaukee Avenue Bank When First Payment Is Made.

CROWDS STORM BUILDING

100 OFFICERS CALLED OUT

First Detachment of 60 Overwhelmed and Reinforcements Hurried to Scene.

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—Sixty policemen were overwhelmed today by a mad rush of men and women who were determined to get the first money paid out of the vaults of the ruined Milwaukee Avenue Bank.

Receiver Fetzer had made arrangements to pay 20 per cent to 5000 of the 22,000 depositors and everybody was anxious to be among the preferred number. At daybreak the crowds swarmed around the bank, and by 8 o'clock the bank was surrounded by 15,000 people. Sixty policemen had been sent to the bank, but they were incapable of handling the crowd, the greater part of which was unable to understand the English language.

Forty more officers were finally sent and order was even then restored with difficulty, after hours of battling.

It seemed impossible to make the depositors comprehend that although only 5000 were to be paid today, the others would be paid just as much within the next few days. At one time the crowd threatened to fairly storm the bank, as, waving their passbooks in the air, they rushed for the doors, shouting in Bohemian, Polish, Norwegian and Italian.

The receiver was all day paying the 5000, and will pay as many more tomorrow.

THIS JUDGE TAKES TAXPAYER'S VIEW

He'll Work for $2000 a Year; Why Raise Salary to $2500?

REFUSES AN INCREASE

Running Again, but Is Opposed to Increase for the Office.

Probate Judge Frank Perrin of Belleville adheres to his opposition to more pay for the Probate Judge of St. Clair County. He is receiving with modesty the commendation of his friends, and is not affected by the surprised comments of the public.

Nothing that has been said one way or the other since he announced his position on the salary question, has had any effect on his attitude. His mind is fully made up that the Probate Judge gets all the work of the office is worth, and those who know him know that he will protest to the last ditch if the County Board of Supervisors persists in the attempt to increase the salary.

Nobody questions his motives or his sincerity. "I don't consider that it is my salary that is under consideration," he said. "The increase, if one is made, will not take effect until the next term begins in December. My term will expire at that time. I am a candidate for re-election, but that is not saying that I will be elected. It is the salary of the office that I am opposed to increasing.

"I am opposed to it as a private citizen and a tax payer, not as the incumbent of the office and the aspirant for re-election. Consistency requires that I oppose such an increase.

"When I was a member of the Board of Supervisors I voted repeatedly against increasing the salary of this office. The fact that I now hold the office does not change the situation. Nothing has occurred to cause me to change my view.

"I believe the work of the office will be performed as ably and conscientiously for $2000 as for $2500.

"I don't believe the difference in salary would make any difference in the quality of the work. I don't believe, as a citizen of the county, that the county should pay $2500 for work which it can have done for $2000.

Favors Other Increase.

"The proposition to increase the salary of the County Judge from $1500 to $2000 is a different thing. I favor that. The County Judge does about the same amount of work and work of the same general character as the Probate Judge. When the Probate Judge is overworked the County Judge helps him out, doing the work of a $2000 position for a $1500 salary. At other times the Probate Judge helps the County Judge, drawing $2000 for the work which the County Judge does for $1500. If the Probate Judge should die, the County Judge would have to perform his work for several weeks for the lesser salary. The salaries of the two offices should be equalized."

Judge Perrin, is one of the best-known men in St. Clair County. He was born at Mascoutah, and in former years taught school. He was for 14 years City Attorney of Mascoutah. He was a member of the County Board of Supervisors almost as long. For two years he was Assistant State's Attorney.

The Judge has a beautiful home in Belleville and owns property in other parts of St. Clair County.

ONLY A DECK OF CARDS.

All That Was Found in Cornerstone of M. E. Church.

GROVEPORT, O., Aug. 24.—On the order of State Inspector Morgan, a gang of workmen today started to tear down the old Methodist Church at this place, the walls being weak and ready to fall down.

The razing of the church attracted considerable interest, and the villagers flocked to the scene to witness the opening of the cornerstone, which was supposed to contain some money, a Bible and a history of the church. The stone was, however, found to be solid, but near it imbedded in the wall was a tin tobacco box containing a pack of cards, from which the euchre deck had been taken out. The cards were inscribed with the names of many old settlers and residents of Groveport.

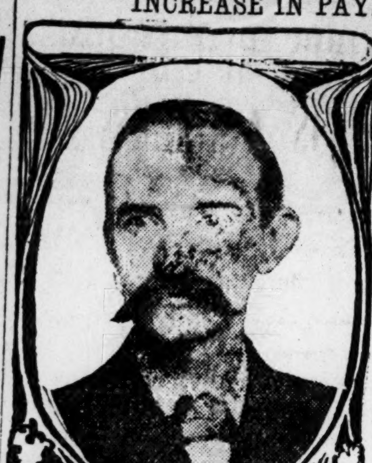

BIG CRANE TOPPLES OVER.

Operator Leaps Just in Nick of Time.

CHESTER, Pa., Aug. 24.—During the operation last night of a 10-ton locomotive traveling crane at the Baldwin Locomotive Works at Eddystone, while lifting two flasks, the crane toppled over and fell into a pile of cylinders. Harry Stromberg, the operator, escaped probable death by leaving the cabin and jumping to the ground. Men standing in proximity to the crane ran to places of safety when the signal was given that the heavy machinery was about to fall.

The accident was due to the crane becoming overbalanced.

New York Woman Converts Pension Bureau Into Matrimonial Agency.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—More than a dozen would-be husbands are waiting to lead Mrs. L. A. Worrell of New York to the altar. Mrs. Worrell recently took matters in her own hands when she stated that men in New York and vicinity were slow in going to the matrimonial market and wrote the Pension Bureau in Washington to find her a husband. The letter was published and today there are a round baker's dozen applications to the office for Mrs. Worrell's heart and hand.

The letter from Mrs. Worrell and applications which have resulted were all turned over to Deputy Commissioner Davenport for disposition.

When the Deputy Commissioner found himself conducting a matrimonial bureau, so to speak, he was in dismay. He announced his intention of returning the letters to their original senders and to furnish no addresses to Mrs. Worrell. So if the lady really and truly wants a husband she will have to look to other agencies than the United States Pension Bureau for assistance.

Mrs. Worrell's letter to the bureau read:

"I have wanted to get married, but there seems no man here that wants me. If there is, he is very slow coming forward, so that if the bureau can furnish me a good man, I presume the money will come all right."

Letters in reply have reached the bureau from Washington, New York, New Jersey and various parts of Pennsylvania. Many of the letters merely ask Mrs. Worrell's address and inclose a stamped envelope for a reply. Others are addressed to her to be forwarded and still others ask the bureau to fix things up for them. One thoughtful man asks for the widow's address for his brother who happens to be away from home on his vacation.

LUNATIC AT BAY HURLS DYNAMITE

Maniac Barricades Himself in Miner's Cabin and Defies Capture.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BRECKINRIDGE, Colo., Aug. 24.—Barricaded in a miner's cabin and hurling dynamite at all who approach, an insane man is terrorizing residents in the vicinity of Argentine. A Sheriff's posse has left for the scene.

The maniac is a stranger here. He was first discovered by H. E. Franklin, who owns the cabin. Mr. Franklin found the door barred and the man asleep in his bed.

When Franklin roused him he got up, and grabbing a stick of dynamite, chased Franklin away. Since then he has been throwing the explosive at random, walking in a circle around the cabin and cheering when the dynamite exploded. This morning he threw a stick of dynamite at a boy, but the boy escaped.

NO MONEY TO PAY FARE.

So 70-Year-Old Woman Travels on Foot.

PORT HURON, Mich., Aug. 24.—Mrs. Anna Burch, aged 70 years, passed through here today on a trip from Flint to Delaware, Ont. The old lady said she had walked the whole distance from Flint to this city and intended to continue the journey to her destination in the same manner. She intends to take up her home with a daughter at Delaware and hadn't the money to pay railroad fare.

CITIZENS MOB ARTIST.

Tar and Feather Him for Indecent Acts.

CASS LAKE, Minn., Aug. 24.—Byron Andrews, a photographer, was taken from his home at 11 o'clock at night by an infuriated crowd of prominent citizens, carried one mile into the woods and stripped naked and tarred and feathered.

He was then given orders to leave before morning.

His actions for a long time have been suspicious, and one mother tacked signs throughout the town that her young daughter was brutally treated by him. When the statement was verified the indignation of every citizen in the town was aroused.

Andrews begged like a whipped cur when citizens came for him, but no sympathy or mercy was shown him. He has no family.

SAYS WE SHOULD EAT OUR HORSES

Yale Professor Is Enthusiastically Hissed at Veterinarians' Dinner.

SCORES HIS UNIVERSITY

Brewer Says the Only Crop Yale Raises Is One of Wild Oats.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 24.—"I want to see the time when horse and mule meat will be freely eaten and freely asked for," said Prof. W. H. Brewer of Yale University at the banquet of the American Veterinary Medical Association. The statement was greeted with absolute silence for several moments, and then there was an uproar of jeers, hisses and laughter.

The remarks of Prof. Brewer came at the end of a long speech, in which he discussed racehorse speed and Yale University. He said that the "only crop Yale raised was one of wild oats." He said that the scruples against horse meat are largely religious ones and of no importance. "There is," he said, "less chance of getting disease from horse meat than from that of any other animal.

"Fatten the old horse as you do the old cow," he continued, "and then eat him. He will so spend his last days in comfort and you will make the price of meat cheaper."

He ended with an appeal to the members of the convention to advocate this reform, but his remarks were treated sarcastically by the speakers who followed him. Dr. A. H. Baker of Chicago said:

"God forbid that we should ever think of eating horse flesh. If nothing else would prevent us, surely the affection which makes the horse one of the family would stand as a barrier."

UNDERTAKERS MAY NOT FORM TRUSTS

Mutual Burial Associations Violations of Law, Kansas Attorney-General Says.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 24.—Attorney-General Coleman rendered an opinion today in the controversy between C. H. Luling, Superintendent of Insurance, and the various mutual burial associations over the State that probably will cripple the undertakers.

He hold that under the present system of operation the burial associations violate the Kansas anti-trust laws. Mr. Luling said following Mr. Coleman's that the associations must comply with the anti-trust laws under penalty of prosecution. The Attorney-General held that burial associations have no authority to designate what undertaker shall be employed, that they have no authority to retain any part of the policy and that the beneficiary is not compelled to use the whole amount of the policy in the burial of the dead.

KNEELS TO PRAY, KILLED BY TRAIN

Crowd Sees Girl Ground to Death, Aunt and Young Cousin Injured.

WILMINGTON, Del., Aug. 24.—Kneeling in prayer after she had struggled vainly to free her foot from between the ties of a Baltimore & Ohio Railroad trestle, Miss Elizabeth Rothwell, a well-known young woman of this city, was ground to pieces by a freight train yesterday near Brandywine Springs Park. Her aunt, Mrs. Richard Rothwell, and a young cousin, Richard Rothwell, who were with her at the time, were injured.

There was a farmers' fair at the park and hundreds of persons saw the tragedy.

Miss Rothwell, her aunt and her cousin had gone to the fair together, and were crossing the trestle to take a car home, when a whistle warned them that the train was approaching. They turned to run back, but when they were more than halfway across they wheeled about again to run in the other direction. Miss Rothwell's right foot slipped between the ties and became firmly wedged.

Mrs. Rothwell jumped, alighting on the embankment 20 feet below and breaking several bones. The boy was too bewildered to move, and the engine struck him, tossing him off the side of the trestle. Then Miss Rothwell was killed.

LEOPARD BITES BOY.

Show Animal Nearly Kills Adventuresome Youth.

FERGUS FALLS, Minn., Aug. 24.—George Ahlberg, a Henning boy, was dangerously injured by a leopard while attending the Campbell circus.

He drew too near the cage and the brute darted his paw suddenly forward and drawing him close to the bars, fastened his fangs in the boy's throat.

The main blood vessels were not cut, but Ahlberg lost much blood before a physician could stop the flow. His condition is serious.

FORK TINES ENTER BODY.

An Illinois Man Suffers Most Serious Accident.

DOUGLAS, Ill., Aug. 24.—George M. Beck met with an accident that might have cost his life.

He was pitching bundles to a threshing machine at L. E. Tasker's when his fork came in contact with one of the belts of the machine. As quick as a flash the end of the fork handle was thrown violently against his breast, tearing one rib loose and puncturing one of his lungs. Dr. Lovell was called immediately and reduced the pain. Every apparent indication now shows the patient will get along all right.

That's Why.

From the Houston Post.

"I'd like to know why you ask for money every day."

"Because you only give me some about once a month, I suppose."

LOCAL STOCKS BARELY STEADY

Transaction Shows Decline of Two Points in Missouri-Lincoln.

TRADING NOT ACTIVE

Sales in United Railways Were Light With Common Quoted at 48 3-4.

On the local stock market the opening was barely steady and transactions light, the summer calm having again fallen upon the exchange.

St. Louis Transfer has been showing some activity during the early days of the week and offers of 57 today brought no transactions. Transfer generally has sold about 60 and the recent arrangements with Eastern railroads for East St. Louis business strengthened the stock.

In the bank list the offerings were not up to the demands and the only transaction in the list was five shares of Commerce at 320.

E. St. Louis News

James P. Phelps and Miss Alice J. Edgley of East St. Louis were married Thursday afternoon by Justice Brady after the couple had been refused a marriage license at Clayton, Mo. The bridegroom's mother accompanied them to the marriage license office and gave her consent to the marriage. The bridegroom was only 19 years old and the bride was a few days past 18.

The engagement has been announced of Miss Ollie Strecker, daughter of Mrs. William H. Rohm of 705 Illinois avenue, and Fred J. Nestor, son of Joseph Nestor, president of the Nestor-O'Bear Glass Works. The wedding will take place Sept 18 at high mass at St. Henry's Church, Rev. Father William Cluse officiating. The attendants will be Miss Anna Baumeister and Eugene Renshaw.

A two days' executive session of the Executive Committee of the coal miners of District No. 6 opened Thursday morning in Geary's Hall. President Thomas Reynolds of Collinsville is presiding and Frank J. Hayes of Collinsville is secretary. Delegates representing 53 local unions in the district are there.

The annual Labor Day picnic of the labor unions of East St. Louis will be given Sept. 3 at Central Park. The parade, in which it is expected that 7000 will take part, will leave the lodge hall at Fifth street and Missouri avenue at 9:30 a. m., passing over the principal streets. The speakers will be Mayor Silas Cook, Harry Mackinaw and W. M. Vandeventer. J. Ashbury has been appointed grand marshal.

William Jennings, who was arrested by Detective Fitts near Broughton, Thursday, charged with stabbing William Fillman at the National Stockyards Monday, gave bond for $1000 for his appearance Aug. 31 before Justice Brady. The reward offered for his capture was paid to Detective Fitts Thursday. Fillman is at Henrietta Hospital.

It has been decided by the School Book Committee of the Board of Education to use the last year's text books this year.

The funeral of Thomas McChesney, 37 years old, who died at Henrietta Hospital Thursday of blood poison, ensuing when his foot was crushed, will be held at 2 p. m. Sunday from the family residence, 1201 Winstanley avenue, to Mount Carmel Cemetery. He is survived by his wife. He was a switchman for the Louisville & Nashville Railroad and was injured Friday while at work in the yards.

John Henry Ernest, 56 years old, who fell from the roof at 602 Missouri avenue while asleep Tuesday night, breaking his right leg in three places and his right arm, died Friday morning at St. Mary's Hospital. The funeral will be held Sunday in Belleville under the auspices of the Belleville Knights of Pythias Lodge. He is survived by his 12-year-old son, who was sleeping on the roof with his father at the time of the accident.

T. E. Owens, driver of an ice wagon, who formerly lived in Mount Vernon, was arrested in East St. Louis Friday morning by Deputy Sheriff Gibson of Mount Vernon on a charge of abandoning his wife and 8-year-old child. He will be taken back to Mount Vernon Friday night.

Mrs. M. J. Walsh and daughters, Nellie and May, and Mrs. E. Holloran and daughters, Maggie and Annie, returned Thursday night from Memphis.

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 24.—Theodore Roosevelt Jr. left Denver yesterday accompanied by Lieut. Emory S. Land, U. S. N., for Glenwood Springs.

Young Roosevelt, with a laugh, said he wanted to verify by personal experiences some of the hunting and fishing stories his father had told him.

He said he did not doubt "the Governor's word," but that he could not get away from the old saying that "seeing is believing."

KEEN INTEREST FELT IN DEFY OFFERED HILL

Belief Prevails That Hill and Morgan Roads and Unite States Steel Will Become Kindred—Shares in Harriman's Union Pacific Are Up Once More.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Before noon the Harriman brokers got into action and Union Pacific commenced an advance leading from 183¼ at opening to 185¼ at noon. The only cause given for this advance from the floor is that of selling by the short interest.

It was stated that the Harriman forces had counted upon the selling by the short interest brace the stock to about the figure of last Saturday.

There is the strongest kind of an undercurrent interest in banking and financial circles anent the developments around the Hill and Morgan interests. The defy of the Canadian Pacific, offered to Mr. Hill on the proposition of the invasion of territory is taken to mean that the Canadian Pacific management intends to assert its interest in the Mineapolis St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie Road, commonly called the Soo Line, in opposition to Mr. Hill and his plans of new line construction in the Dominion west of Winnipeg. Years ago Mr. Hill, on a friendly footing with Canadian Pacific and with Thomas Lowry, president of the Soo, used the position in his fight for control of the Northern Pacific and ascendancy in the transcontinental situation in the Northwest. With transcontinental Canadian Pacific now in the attitude of an opponent on the north and with the Vanderbilts and Rockefellers building to the coast in the territory between himself and Harriman's Union Pacific, an alliance with the Morgan interest, which can furnish the Erie for an Atlantic seaboard connecting east from Chicago, is about the only solution for a Hill transcontinental without building one.

Three-fourths of the mileage of the Soo Line is now within the United States, but with the extensions already surveyed and projected it penetrates the Canadian Northwest at a junction with Canadian Pacific 600 miles west of Winnipeg. With the eastern end of the road at the Soo Canal at the east end of Lake Superior, which canal has the greatest tonnage of any canal in the world, the rail and water cut-off between the Canadian Northwest and American lake ports would be a club of great effectiveness in the hands of the Canadian Pacific. At the same time it must be remembered that Mr. Hill is on the great lakes from Duluth to Ontario ports (water connection with Erie) with the largest freighters on the lakes, and that the east end of Northern Pacific Railroad is Duluth. In New York it is believed Mr. Hill's unwillingness to reply at length to the defy of Canadian Pacific is prompted by his satisfaction to get along without the Lowry road for the probable reason that he has found a stronger ally in Morgan.

For some reason, probably known to the street, the Soo Line is given prominence today in the appended special circular prospectus, indicating that the line is seen as a factor in the situation from some standpoint: "In local financial circles the principal interest is in Soo and the question of an increased dividend in September. Many here believe that an increase will be made and the 4 per cent on common raised to 6 per cent. Officials say there is no information to be given out. So far as earnings are concerned there is everything to encourage the belief of an increase, for the crops along the Soo Line are heavy and will soon be moving, while westbound business holds up and is likely to increase."

INSANE FROM HEAT.

Toledo Farmer Deranged From Burning Sun's Rays.

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 24.—John Ford, 45, farmer, living on the edge of the city, has been committed to the Toledo State Hospital, his mind having been deranged by the excessively hot days of last week.

Ford was prostrated by the scorching rays of the sun and since that time has refused nourishment in any form.

He persisted in butting his head against a mail box in his neighborhood.

From the Catholic Standard and Times.

"That's just it. She argues that he couldn't be so attentive to her if he hadn't had a lot of experience with some one else."

PRICE OF WHEAT FRACTION LOWER

Close Is Slightly Lower on Home Conditions—Other Grains Sympathetic

TRADING WAS DULL

Foreign Markets Were Higher, but Their Strength Was Not Reflected Here.

Grain in the local market suffered a decline of ⅛c to ⅝c today on the general bear news. The price of wheat, after dropping about from ⅛c to ¼c at the opening, in spite of the higher cables, was steady throughout the day at a fraction lower than yesterday.

Trading was dull, the heavy liquidation by traders who bought liberally yesterday on the Russian situation being the main feature. It was apparently this factor that depressed the price of wheat.

Other grains were also lower. Corn dropped from ⅛c to ⅝c and oats ⅛c to ¼c.

News of the day was scant, the heavy rains in the Northwest said to be impeding harvest work being almost the only factor of any importance.

The cash market was strong, with no particular feature. A good milling demand and light country offerings supported prices.

The foreign markets were all strong, especially Liverpool, but their strength was not reflected on this side. Liverpool closed ⅛d higher for wheat and ⅛d to ½d higher for corn. Paris wheat closed steady to ⅛c higher, with flour steady to 3d lower. Antwerp closed unchanged.

Local wheat was unexpectedly weak at the opening and was dull throughout the day at about a quarter to a point decline. The gossip preliminary to the opening on change was bullish, excessive rains in the Northwest and higher cables being the principal features. At the opening, however, a downward tendency was noted, owing to the traders, who bought heavily yesterday on the Russian situation, trying to unload. This heavy selling was too much for the buyers, who were disappointed and sold out on the failure of the bullish news to affect other markets. At the close buying was fair, with prices generally lower.

Winnipeg papers are not in on estimate, claiming crop of the Canadian Northwest as over 90,000,000. The estimate of the Northern Elevator Co., Limited, which made a personal investigation for business purposes, is 85,000,000. The Canadian Northwestern Railway says that harvesting is two-thirds over in the Canadian Northwest.
except in the Saskatchewan Valley, where it is just beginning.

Country acceptances of wheat were light, but the bids sent out last night did not in all cases follow last night's advance in futures. Acceptances of corn and oats bids were light, but big cash houses report that corn is being consigned in increased quantities to secure present premium.

Corn was weak throughout the day, the heavy rains in Kansas, which are beneficial to the crop and the heavy offerings having a bearish effect on prices. The close on corn was about ⅝c lower than yesterday.

Trading in oats was dull, though this grain closed only a small fraction lower and was fairly well supported throughout the day.

Following is the Modern Miller outlook: There is no evidence of an increase in the movement of winter wheat. The wheat in the shock in Kansas and Oklahoma, which was damaged by rain, has about all been threshed and marketed. Most farmers are holding their wheat in the stack or bins and refuse to sell at present prices. Farmers are busy plowing for fall seeding.

The Argentine shipments are as follows:

	This week.	Last week.	Year ago.
Wheat	1,208,000	856,000	1,852,000
Corn	2,633,000	2,350,000	3,697,000

The visible supply of grain in Argentine are as follows:

	This week.	Last week.	Year ago.
Wheat	1,828,000	1,440,000	3,552,000
Corn	3,480,000	3,404,000	4,859,000

Argentine cables say that wheat in that center is firm, though with poor demand. The weather is favorable for wheat, which is in good condition, and promises well. Corn is firm, with fair demand.

Marie Cahill's New Gown Astonishes Newport.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 24.—Marie Cahill, the actress, surprised society here last night by appearing in a gown made from the wool of the French poodle, thus introducing a new texture in the United States.

The cloth was obtained from a Parisian house. The dress is pale blue in color and the texture has a silkish linen effect.

Hay Fever

50 Cts. Brings Relief

MR. LAKIN, 30 Robertson Street, Quincy, Mass., says: "I have had hay fever so badly my eyelids would swell up, and the air passages of my nose and head become so inflamed I could not breathe, sleep or eat. By inhaling that liquid X-Zalia I got quick relief, and henceforth hay fever attacks will have no terrors for me."

DR. JAMES EUGENE BELL, Elberton, Ga., says: "I have used X-Zalia for hay fever in my own case, and found much relief from it."

H. E. WAITE, Lebanon, N. H., says: "I cannot say too much for X-Zalia; it is the best remedy for hay fever I ever used. Last year I suffered intensely; this year I am using X-Zalia and attending to business every day."

REV. C. DIXON, West Goshen, Conn., says: "The liquid X-Zalia has relieved me considerably. I have been a sufferer from hay fever for over forty years."

FOUND IMMEDIATE RELIEF.

"For the past fifteen years I have had hay fever. This year, seeing X-Zalia advertised, I procured a bottle, and on the first application I found immediate relief. The inflammation and difficult breathing have entirely subsided. —S. VERNOOY, Pine Bush, N. Y."

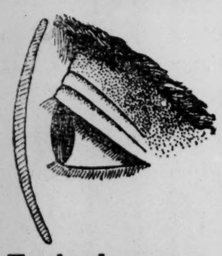

And so it goes. You can get the same relief from this healing antiseptic liquid as these people did. You simply snuff or inhale it up the nostrils. You can aid in the effectiveness in severest cases by placing a cloth wet with this liquid over the face. And a large bottle of X-Zalia costs but 50c. at any druggist's—and relief is certain.

FREE BOOKLET and proof that X-Zalia can do it," by writing X-ZALIA CORPN., 55-57 Batterymarch St., Boston.

HITS MAN WHO SAYS HE SHOULD JOIN DEAD WIFE

Hollingsworth Resents Walter Sharp's Criticism for Entering Saloon.

SALOON KEEPER IN FIGHT

Salesman in Hospital After Being Struck With Glass and Heavy Chair.

WOMAN KILLED BY TEAM

Hotel Proprietor's Wife Was Thrown From Surrey Turning Corner.

Charles Hollingsworth of 3430 Lucas avenue, proprietor of the Princeton Hotel, whose wife, Mrs. Susan Hollingsworth, died Thursday evening from injuries received in being thrown from her surrey at Twenty-first and Pine streets by her spirited team, attacked and seriously injured Walter Sharp of the Hotel Berlin, a salesman, early Friday at the saloon of Maurice Brown, 2945 Olive street. Sharp is alleged to have remarked that the place for Hollingsworth was with the body of his wife, instead of in the saloon.

According to Brown, who also took part in the fight, he used a glass and Hollingsworth an oak chair. Hollingsworth and Brown were arrested. Warrants will be applied for Friday against them. Sharp is at the City Hospital, also a prisoner.

Sharp was in the saloon when Hollingsworth entered. Brown says Sharp had had two or three drinks. Something was said about the death of Mrs. Hollingsworth and Sharp, according to Brown, said the place of a man whose wife was dead was at her side and not in a saloon.

The noise of the fight that followed attracted the attention of Sergt. Hall and Policemen Fagin and Davis. They found Sharp badly battered about the head and the saloon interior badly disarranged.

Is Arrested Downtown.

Hollingsworth got away, but was followed to Sixth and Market streets by Hall and Fagan and was arrested. He and Brown were taken to the Manchester Avenue Station, where they were released on bond. Davis accompanied Sharp to the City Hospital.

Mrs. Hollingsworth was an intrepid horsewoman. Many persons on St. Louis streets have admired her as she handled spirited teams on crowded thoroughfares.

When Mrs. Hollingsworth drove downtown Thursday, she was riding behind a new team of young horses that were easily frightened at street cars and objects in the street.

Paul Beck, her coachman, who accompanied her, says he told Mrs. Hollingsworth there was danger in driving the span. He asked to drive, but Mrs. Hollingsworth continued to hold the reins, and he was forced to submit to her will.

As Mrs. Hollingsworth, driving on Pine street, turned at Twenty-first toward Chestnut street, the horses changed direction sharply and sprang forward quickly.

This brought the surrey against the curbing and the vehicle was almost overturned. The impact threw Mrs. Hollingsworth out forwards. As she fell one foot became locked between the axle and front springs. Her head fell to the pavement and she was dragged along the street as the horses ran away.

Coachman Stops Team.

Many pedestrians saw the perilous place the woman was in.

Beck almost fell out of the surrey. With difficulty he regained his balance. He stepped out upon the tongue between the horses and checked their flight by tugging on their bridles. When they were almost stopped Policeman Hughes held them.

Mrs. Hollingsworth, unconscious from her injuries, was hurried to the City Dispensary in the surrey. Her death at the hospital several hours later is attributed to internal injuries.

Beck says he knew the horses were skittish and had advised Mrs. Hollingsworth not to drive them.

Face Value $400,000; Real Value Is Sought.

The Trust Company of St. Louis County, which has qualified as administrator of the estate of Burchard Clarkson, a Clayton negro, will endeavor to learn the real value of mining stocks left by Clarkson of a face value of $400,000.

The shares, in the denomination of $1 each, were found among some of Clarkson's belongings during the taking of an inventory of his estate. How he got them is not known. He was thrifty, and had saved $1006 in cash, besides acquiring some real estate. The mining stock is in the Baby Boy Mining and Milling Co. of Montana.

ILL LUCK PURSUES HIM.

Second Fracture of Leg Convinces Penzel of This.

"Bad luck," if there is such a thing—and this man thinks there it—has pursued Fred Penzel of Logansport, Ind., for the last two months.

About that long ago he lost all his money and belongings in a fire. Three days after the fire he received word from his Logansport home that his mother was dying. Out of money, he jumped on a freight train to beat his way home.

In leaving the train at King's highway July 20, he fell and broke his leg. He was taken to the City Hospital. While laid up with his injured leg the date set for his wedding to a girl in Indiana passed. He was released Thursday from the hospital and went immediately to Union Station to take a train for Logansport. In descending the steps at the station entrance he fell and broke his leg a second time, in the same place. He was returned to the hospital.
